Nearly Half Absent, Most From Largely Negro Areas

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly half and against the policies of Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of Chicago's approximately 470,000 public school pupils were absent from classes Tuesday, most of them staying away in what the nation's highest-paid public Negro civil rights leaders officials and in his 10th year as claimed was the nation's largest school boycott.

The massive civil rights boycott was in protest against what leaders called the "growing school segregation in Chicago."

Senate Group Seeks Overhaul Of Foreign Aid

Tells Administration To Act or Congress May Take Over

BY EARNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has advised the administration to overhaul its foreign aid program next year or face the possibility of Congress doing it.

The committee — the program's best friend in Capitol Hill — turned out to be one of its severest critics in a report recommending passage of a $4,202,365,000 foreign aid authorization bill. The Senate starts debate on the bill Monday.

Rejects Amendment
The report revealed that the committee seriously considered — but rejected — an amendment that would have terminated the aid program June 30, 1965, to force sweeping changes in its operations.

"The committee refrained from adopting this amendment in the expectation, which it hopes will not prove unjustified, that the administration will submit a fiscal year 1965 program to Congress which has been revamped in major respects," the report said.

For the fiscal year, starting next July 1, the committee specifically recommended the Agency for International Development curtail its program to eliminate from aid "countries which can take care of themselves." It said "even more selectivity among countries should be introduced."

U. S. Probing Attack on Ship Off Cuban Coast

Havana Radio Says Vessel Strafed but Doesn't Give Reason

BY BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has launched an investigation of the strafing of an American-owned ship off the coast of Cuba early Tuesday morning.

There is no doubt the strafing was carried out by Cuban planes. Although it did not identify the ship, Havana radio said its air force attacked a vessel in the area.

The big question is why. Havana claimed the ship was carrying saboteurs and arms. However, it was learned elsewhere that the vessel, the bulk carrier J. Louis, was steaming from Ocho Rios, Jamaica, to Corpus Christi, Tex., with 31,500 tons of bauxite ore, the raw material for aluminum.

Possible Explanation
The answer may be in an account given the New York Times by what the paper referred to as highly placed informants.

According to this version, the J. Louis was attacked when she accidentally sailed into the thick of a fight between Cuban coast defenses and a raiding party of Cuban exiles. Possibly four or five MIGs strafed the vessel because their Cuban pilots "in the heat of action" believed she was involved in an anti-Castro landing operation.

No Casualties Reported
The owners of the vessel reported no casualties during the hour-long attack. Flares were dropped to light up the target. Shells damaged the superstructure and hull and set up a fire in the forecastle of the 33,000-ton vessel.

More may be known when the J. Louis, with its crew of about 50, arrives late tonight at Corpus Christi.

Liberian Registry
The incident jarred the quiet of Tuesday's first anniversary of last fall's Cuban crisis. The State Department deplored "this unprovoked attack on a vessel navigating the high sea" and said it was investigating to see whether a U.S. protest would be made.

Frankfurt Fog Diverts 5 Big U.S. Transports

Maj. Gen. Edwin Burba, center, commander of the U. S. Second Armored Division, is shown on arrival at Rhine-Main air base in Frankfurt, West Germany, today with vanguard of transport planes in "Exercise Big Lift." At right is Gen. Joe W. Time Table For Big Lift Will be Met

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The big American airlift of the 2nd Armored Division from Texas to Germany neared the end of its first 24 hours today with all goals met, senior officers announced.

By 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EST), 60 transports had landed with 5,583 troops, about one-fourth of the total involved.

The airlift overcame some foggy weather this morning by diverting five flights, but the Army said this did not interfere with the schedule.

As the weather brightened later, the steady stream of transports stepped up in pace.

At the same time, troops were taking over the tanks and other heavy weapons awaiting them. None of this was supposed to happen until Thursday, but five per cent of the job had been handled by noon.

Bonn Minister Watches
West German Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel went to the Rhein-Main Air Base to speak with American officers and obtain a private briefing on how Exercise Big Lift was going. He told newsmen Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had convinced him that Big Lift is not intended to demonstrate that American forces in Europe could or would be reduced. This possibility has been of some burning concern to the West Germans.

The early success of the lift prompted some officers to estimate that the 72-hour goal for landing all planes would be achieved in possibly 63 hours.

Rhein-Main Air Base, receiving most of the transatlantic air armada, was closed for seven hours. But at noon a bright sun broke through, and moments later a C135 Stratolifter landed. Four transports had to be re-routed to Ramstein Air Base, 60 miles southwest of Frankfurt, and one C131 with 73 soldiers landed at Mildenhall, England, refueling stop for the propeller-driven craft in the Texas-Europe air bridge.

Faculty, Ex-Presidents Comment

Reaction Is Enthusiastic to Word Of Lawrence, Downer Consolidation

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Lawrence College's Main Hall bell rang at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday, as it has for moments of institutional celebration since the building became the center of the campus in 1853.

The news announced by the bell, and which had just been verbally announced to the students officially in office, and went body by President Curtis about seven weeks on the campus. W. Tarr, was that in September, past. "This is just about the biggest news ever to happen at Lawrence," Tarr replied with a modest smile. "Well, since I've been here, anyway."

Within Lawrence University, he said, would be three coordinating units—Lawrence College for Men, Downer College for Women, and the Conservatory of Music. The Institute of Paper who had been Lawrence president from 1925 to 1937, then relationship with Lawrence University as it had with the college and is now executive director of the American Assembly, called from New York City to say:

Lawrence Gets His Wish
It was a long time for Amos A. Lawrence to wait to get his wish. When he founded Lawrence College 116 years ago, he was known to have murky thoughts on the subject of co-education. It is reported that when he came to address his college—the only time he saw it—he talked only to the boys in the audience. Now, in the reorganization, Lawrence College would in fact be a college for men.

The Lawrence faculty got the news of the consolidation an hour before the students did. As Dr. Tarr described the complex maneuvers that went into dealing with private and public committees, one faculty member said admiringly: "Will you give the inquiry concerns steel the Freshman Studies lecture prices. The impenetrable followed by a subcommittee of at least seven big steel producers which said to Lawrence's one company spokesman said east up of the Korean Peninsula — installed president (five took the industry by surprise." sula.

Grand Jury Picked For Steel Inquiry
NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury was sworn in today at the request of the Justice Department's Antitrust Division for a probe involving the steel industry. Judge John F. S. McGohery in-structed the 16 men and 7 women on the jury to keep secret all matters they discuss. There has been a report that the inquiry concerns steel prices.

Forecasters Chart Storm

Hurricane Ginny Moving Slowly Toward Florida's Eastern Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Wrong-loop and swing to the south and possible along the middle east coast of Florida tonight. After dawdling for three days off the Eastern Seaboard as far north as Cape Hatteras, Ginny heavily populated lower east coast. Storm forecasters nervously held hurricane warnings in this is far from a major hurricane, arousing a dim hope cane. "It is indeed that the confusing tropical a minimal hurricane. Even if it storm might loop-the-loop and comes ashore, tides and winds will, for a hurricane, be minimal."

May Change Course
Hurricane hunter aircraft shuttled in and out of the storm, possible to predict Ginny's course more than 12 hours ahead. Gale warnings were displayed to take quick precautions if necessary. The Coast Guard reported that peak winds of 80 miles per hour near her center, was located about 160 miles east-northeast of Cape Canaveral. The storm along much of the coast from day, was taken in tow by the blustering southwestward Florida to the Middle Atlantic cutter Chilula off the North Carolina coast. The cutter Casco at 10 m.p.h.

Forecasters said tides five feet higher than normal were expected. "At least some possibility still exists that it could perform a feet higher than normal were the fog."

U. S. Reported Set to Sell Hungary Corn

Soviets, Americans Confer On Possible Sale of Wheat

BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet wheat buyers confer today with administration officials as reports circulate that the United States is ready to approve sale of 40,000 tons of corn to Hungary.

If the corn sale rumors are true, the deal would be the first to be closed with an Iron Curtain country since President Kennedy approved sale of subsidized farm products—particularly wheat—to the Soviet bloc two weeks ago.

The wheat sales, the chief item in Soviet-American bargaining, have been held up by nagging over the costs of shipping the grain on American vessels.

Problem of Ships
Trade and government circles speculated that both the United States and the Soviet bloc got out on a limb by stipulating that the wheat should be shipped on U.S. ships when they were available.

The President laid down the requirement when he approved the sales, and it appeared to be accepted by the Communist countries.

Since then they have objected, citing higher costs of American shipping—about 20 to 30 cents a bushel higher than foreign shipping.

Other Grains Not Affected
This matter figures to be part of the table talk when the Soviet trade negotiators lunch with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The Russian group is headed by Sergei A. Borisov, first deputy minister of foreign trade.

24-Hour Railway Strike in France
PARIS (AP) — A nationwide 24-hour rail strike hit France today as workers on the state-run lines applied pressure for higher wages and other benefits.

By dawn most long-distance and suburb train traffic had stopped.

The government is trying to hold the line against further inflation.

Republican Wins Congress Seat In North Dakota

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—A Republican farmer who campaigned against Kennedy administration policies now carries his sentiments to Washington as North Dakota's new congressman from the state's eastern district.

Mark Andrews took a slim early lead and built it into a near-5,000 vote margin over Democrat John Hove, a college professor, the third such match won this year by Republicans over the nation.

Andrews hammered away at the Kennedy farm, economic and foreign aid programs Hark-king back to last spring's defeat of the wheat referendum. He has been a constant critic of the Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, calling for more farm say-so at farmer levels instead of from Washington.

Incomplete returns from 915 of 1,075 precincts in Tuesday's special election gave Andrews 43,659 votes, Hove 38,690, conservative Republican John Scott 5,512 and independent Thomas Dewey 331.

Sheinwold Mistake Is to Foe's Advantage
Don't be discouraged if an opponent sometimes makes a mistake. Not everybody can be perfect, so make your own correct play and be ready to sympathize in the post mortem discussion.

West opened the six of diamonds, declarer put up dummy's queen, and East shrewdly dropped the jack. When East got in with the king of clubs, soon thereafter, he returned the nine of diamonds.

South was now helpless. If South played low West would overtake with the ten of diamonds to run the rest of the suit. If South put up the king of diamonds, West would have an easier time. Down two.

"Nice unblock," West remarked gratefully as he scored 100 points. If East had played a low diamond at the first trick he would have returned the jack of diamonds later. Then South would play low, and the suit would block. The defenders would get only one diamond trick instead of five.

Polite Player
Since East was a polite player he didn't point out that South had played the hand like a gaffed goldfish. Instead, he remarked in a sympathetic tone: "It's a shame to waste good plays against opponents like this."

This is the kind of sympathy that makes everybody love you. East referred to the fact that South had made the wrong play at the first trick.

The correct course is to play a low diamond from both hands at the first trick. When the club finesse loses, later, East will be out of diamonds, and South will be safe.

South's correct play will not work if the diamonds break 5-3. If so, West will lead another low diamond to dummy's queen; and East will return his third diamond on taking the king of clubs. The correct play works when the diamonds break 6-2 and costs nothing in any case.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S. A. K 10 5 H A 4 D Q 4 C A 9 6 3 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs. You will show the spades next, concealing your full strength until you find out whether or not there is a satisfactory suit for slam purposes.

A Lovelier You

Winning Letters

A woman's letters tell as much about her personality as meeting her face to face. Maybe more!

You get the impression that a writer is a tacky sort of person, when her letters look slipshod. To carry a loveliness message about the sender, a letter must have a spruce appearance.

And there's where stationery plays a vital role. So let's pinpoint the papers that speak of good taste. Without question, they are conservative in color and decoration. Single sheets prove the most useful for chatty letters, as well as home-written business correspondence. For invitations, thank-yous and the like, small folded notes are indispensable.

Notes may be marked with one's monogram or name; single sheets with name and address. But no sort of marking is required.

Adding further to a good appearance is good form. The minimum demands of it are the date, your address, a salutation, a close and a signature. Salutations are fixed: "Dear. . ." The close depends on the intimacy of relationships. When in doubt, close with "Sincerely," and sign your full name.

Thus at first sight a letter reflects credit on the sender. What's more, it piques the attention and interest of the recipient in the content—exactly like a beautifully wrapped gift. After all, the message is the crux of a letter. But, sad to say, it often goes begging for want of convincing backdrop.

of bodice of the other pattern Here is a rule to follow if you plan to use a different sleeve on a bodice. A short-type sleeve cannot be used on a dart-fitted bodice, and a sleeve from a dart-fitted bodice cannot be used on a short-type bodice. This is because the shoulder and front armhole of a short-type bodice are cut differently from those on a dart-fitted bodice. Therefore, use only a short-type sleeve on a short-type bodice and a sleeve from a dart-fitted bodice on a dart-fitted bodice.

Q I'm making a fur collar and I don't know how to sew it. Can you help? — Miss L.A.

A. Sew fur by hand, using tiny whipping stitches and strong waxed thread. Be sure to take up just the edge of the pelt.

Q I have trouble with notches. They always go too far into the seam allowance and leave little room for future alteration. Any suggestions? — Mrs. D.Z.

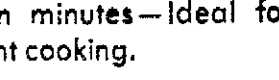

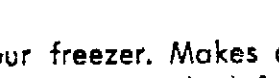

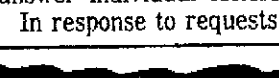

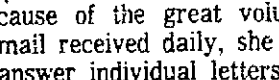

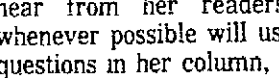

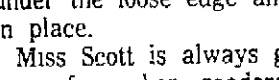

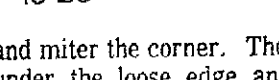

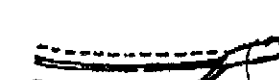

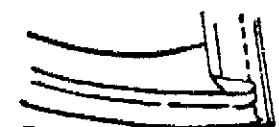

A. Cut the notches outward instead of into the garment. This makes them easier to see and they won't disturb your seam allowance.

Living Within Income

Don't Plan Budget Until You Know What Income Is

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband will be getting out of the service soon. With his training and knowledge, he should be able to make at least $100 a week clear, if not more. This is the problem. How much should we figure on spending for food, clothing and such? Up to now, we have depended mostly on the commissary and PX and also the base hospital for our food, clothing and medical care. We have five children, ages one month to 7 years. If at all possible, we would like to put some money aside for the children's education. We are paying $19 a month for life insurance (family). Our car, as well as other small bills, will be paid for by the time we get out, so we'll be starting out fresh. We would appreciate it if you could help us set up a budget in keeping with today's cost of living. Mrs. A.B.P., San Antonio, Tex.

Dear Mrs. P: I'm not going to set up a "probable" budget for you at this point, as I think it would be a mistake to let any income figure get too firmly planted in your mind. You don't actually know just how much income you will have. Granted that your husband's qualifications should fit him for a $100 plus weekly salary, and that the chances are good that he'll get it. But if you think in terms of a budget organized to fit that sum and then find you have to cut it down all along the line the psychological effect isn't too good. You're apt to feel that you won't be able to manage. And your husband might feel that he'd let you down through his inadequacy. It's a literal fact that you could budget a $200 or $300 a week income — and feel perfectly certain that you couldn't cut down anywhere even if you tried. So for the time being just keep in mind that no matter what your husband's income turns out to be, you will want to keep your basic living expenses at not more than 58 percent of that amount. The basics are food, clothing, and housing. Try to save from 5 to 10 per cent of your income if you can. And remember to include car operating costs in any spending plan you set up. It's an easy item to trip over, because so many people never keep accurate account of gas, oil, tires, etc. You're going to have to pay for them anyway, so don't be caught by surprise at the end of the month. Starting out fresh and debt-free gives you a wonderful advantage — and you'll need it, when those shopping and medical facilities you enjoy now are suddenly out of reach. But since you're taking a sensible approach already to living within your income, you'll manage. If you like, write me later when you know exactly what the score is and I'll be glad to help you shape a budget that will be realistic.

Inflation Haunts People of Brazil

Living Costs Spiral While Labor Unions Demand Wage Hike

BY EDGAR MILLER
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Luis Prestes Pinheiro, an accountant, stopped at a fish market to buy some shrimp.

The price was 800 cruzeiros a kilogram—2.2 pounds. He found he had left his wallet at home and went back to get some money.

When he returned the price on shrimp had gone up to 1,000 cruzeiros a kilo.

To Pinheiro and millions of other Brazilians inflation is a nightmare. It is a spiral of increasing prices which make it more and more difficult to make ends meet on outdistanced salaries.

Living costs shot up 30.8 per cent in the first half of the year after rising 52.7 per cent in 1962, one of Brazil's worst inflation years. They are still going.

Heaping woe on the economic picture was a report from the semi-official Getulio Vargas Foundation that economic growth this year would be only 2.4 per cent while the population would increase 3.1 per cent. Population increasing faster than the national production spells trouble.

Budget Deficit
Brazil's budget deficit is expected to be from 600 billion to a trillion cruzeiros.

The cruzeiro, Brazil's monetary unit, smashed the 1,000 cruzeiros to the dollar barrier for the first time this month.

Brazil has a $25.5-million debt coming due in the United States next month and about $176 million in commercial bills coming up before the end of the year.

One foreign economist likens Brazil's efforts to meet its obligations abroad to a "man filling up old holes by digging new ones."

Demand Higher Wages
"Even nature is contributing to Brazil's woes. Forest fires have swept over one of the nation's richest states, Parana, destroying valuable crops, timber, livestock and leaving thousands homeless. Labor unions are again demanding high wage increases. The bank workers' union, for example, wants a 125 per cent hike now followed by 70 per cent in six months.

Except for a few preliminary measures, the ambitious three-year plan to slow up inflation and stabilize the economy never got off the ground. Finance Minister Carlos Carvalho Pinto insists, however, that he still is working rigorously within the general framework of the plan in an effort to make some order in Brazil's tizzy financial-economic household.

Carvalho Pinto is confident the government can increase its revenue through tax reforms and other measures he has instituted.

How well Brazil fills up its foreign debt holes and withstands snowballing inflationary pressure, could be decisive for the nation's economic future.

As one foreign observer put it: "Brazil still is some distance from true economic chaos. But the distance is getting shorter every day."

Dozens of State Agencies in Madison are preparing to move into new quarters with the expected completion of a big new state office building in the capital city during the next year. The photograph is of a model of the new structure, on display at the state capitol. The new building will be on the far west side of Madison and will house about 2,000 state officials and employees, about the same number now quartered in the state capitol proper and the state office building in downtown Madison. Cost of the new structure will be about $12,700,000.

Parents of Triplets Can't Afford Food

HONG KONG (AP)—A happy but worried mother is considering giving away the triplet sons she bore last week.

"We have too many mouths to feed but not enough food to go round," said 33-year-old Chen Chin, wife of a laborer. She has three other children.

"Of course I love them very much," said the woman. "They are so cute. But we have to be practical, too. We just can't afford to feed an extra mouth, much less three."

Chen's husband works part-time in a textile factory, earning about $40 in a busy month.

RED OWL'S *SMALLER PORK LOINS MEAN BIGGER SAVINGS, BETTER EATING!

HERE'S WHY: Red Owl buys only the smaller (12-16 lb.), leaner pork loins—the kind that come from young, corn-fed porkers (not the coarse, fat, older animals). All of our pork is top quality—light grayish-pink in color, with a velvety texture and a higher percentage of meat to fat and bone.

School Funds Test Bill Up In Congress

Showdown on Public Money for Aid to Church Affiliates

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — At last, if congress lets stand a bill just passed by the senate, there's to be a showdown on the question of whether it is constitutional to use public funds to help church-affiliated colleges or schools. The bill authorizes $1.9 billion in construction aid over a five-year period to the nation's public and private colleges and universities.

During the last two years, however, federal aid to education has been blocked in congress because one side or the other would raise doubts on the constitutionality of such aid to any church-related institutions. President Kennedy didn't clear things up either when he once said to congress that financial aid "across the board" is unconstitutional. He also declared that loans or grants made to church-supported schools at the college level would be constitutional, but wouldn't be valid if made to those in the elementary or secondary category.

Sensors Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, Democrat, amendment be tried out. For it means that bills providing federal aid to education to institutions which are not connected in any way with a church will have smooth sailing in congress and will not be blocked by the perennial demand that something be done to remove the discrimination against church-connected colleges in their teaching of science and other non-religious subjects. If, however, the amendment is dropped out of the proposed law, it seems likely that senators and representatives from areas where there is a public demand for help for church-connected colleges will find themselves being pressured to block federal aid altogether till some compromise is reached.

That's why the Ervin amendment looks like a solution that will remove the principal obstacle to federal aid to education by letting the courts quickly dispose of the issue of the constitutionality of such aid to church-operated schools and colleges. It's much better to provide a way to find out promptly and what is constitutional than to let congress become stalled year after year on its aid to the states in constructing new buildings for educational purposes. Spastic Writes About Striving for Normal Life

"Take One Step," one of the new books at the Appleton Public Library, is by Evelyn West Marx, 30, first ran away from home at 9. At 13 he left for good, were told when she was an infant that she would never walk or talk.

However, sometimes harshly, But treasure research really fascinated him and he filled 11 footlockers with notes Off the shore of South Carolina he lo-jogian the Monitor and became world famous. After service in Korea with the Marines he began to treasure-dive in earnest.

In time he arrived in Madrid where he joined up with Carlos Elayo who was building an exact replica of Columbus' diminutive ship Nina, planning to said it to America.

Longest Crossing Marx, Carlos and seven others set out on the crossing with no modern equipment, expecting to duplicate Columbus' voyage in every possible respect. But, 17 days out from the Canary Islands, the Nina II was 700 miles farther from America than when leaving the islands. For she was so plagued and unseaworthy that she made the longest Atlantic crossing in navigation's history—77 days. Columbus did it handily in 38. A German had done better in a kayak.

However, while jinxes settled like barnacles on the Nina II, none have attached themselves here in this admirably vigorous account.

Other new books are "Goren's Bridge Complete" by Charles Goren, "Birth Control and Catholicism" by George Kelly, "Stranger to the Ground" by Richard Bach, "The Creative Present" by Nona Balakian, "Careers and Opportunities in Commercial Art" by Jacob Biegeleisen, "Make the Most of Your Retirement" by Fessenden Blanchard, "The Story of the Armory Show" by Milton Brown, "The Creevey Papers" by Thomas Creevey, "Bridges and Men" by Joseph Gies, and "The American Worker in the 20th Century" by Eli Ginsberg.

Ship Owners Report Cuban Air Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — An American-owned ship, registered under a foreign flag, was strafed off the coast of Cuba Tuesday, its owners reported.

The attack damaged the superstructure and hull of the SS J. Louis, carrying a cargo of ore and set afire in the fore-castle, but caused no casualties, according to the captain's radioed report.

A spokesman for W W Wagner of Universe Tankships Inc., owner of the J. Louis, said the attack occurred about 12 miles off Cape Corriente, Cuba. The ship was en route from Ocho Rios, Jamaica, to Corpus Christi, Tex., carrying 31,500 tons of bauxite ore.

The ship's master, a Capt. Krause, reported afterwards to Wagner by radiogram:

"Under heavy airplane gunfire attack with 16 passes counted, causing damage to superstructure and hull above waterline. Fire under fore-castle. After two hours of fire fighting now under control. No casualties."

The ship, a 33,000-ton vessel, built in 1961 and registered under a Liberian flag, is under charter by the Caribbean Steamship Co., the spokesman said.

In Key West, Fla., the Navy said it had checked a report that a vessel had been fired on near the western tip of Cuba and sent aircraft to the scene.

Credit Card Business Has Stabilized

Companies Weeded Out Bad Risks That Cut Into Profits

BY JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The credit card business is firming up after going through some rocky times.

This is due mainly to two factors. The card companies have weeded out the bad risks that cut into their profits in the early days of the business.

Third of Series

New Internal Revenue Service regulations on expense accounts have made substantiation of certain expenditures necessary.

5th Anniversary

And, says Howard L. Clark, president of American Express Co., which is observing the fifth anniversary of its entrance into the credit card business: "The rise in credit card use is a reflection of more and more people deciding that a credit card is a respectable and useful document."

The Big Three of the credit card field are Diners Club, American Express and Carte Blanche. Together they represent about 2.5 million cardholders who pay dues of $8 million annually and account for $450 million in receivables.

Clark said profits from American Express credit cards this year will be substantial but the company does not break down net income of the cards from other activities. He predicted that credit card volume for 1963 will total $235 million against $189 million last year.

1962 Receivable

Diners Club had $200 million in worldwide receivables in 1962 and said volume and profit would be up this year.

Carte Blanche's receivables dropped from $104 million in 1961 to $85 million in 1962. Current figures were not immediately available.

In addition to the Big Three, there are about 40 bank credit plans remaining out of about 100 which were formed during the initial rush to get into the field.

Retail Credit

There also are retail credit card plans which cater chiefly to customers of shopping centers.

Cardholders pay an annual fee for membership. They can charge meals, hotel expenses, etc. The establishment patronized pays the credit card company a percentage and the company bills the member.

The credit card companies provides forms on which the cardholder can designate the time and place and the reason for his expenditure. This furnishes a record for submission to the Internal Revenue Service, which now requires an accounting of expense account expenditures exceeding $25.

Reassurance From Rusk

U.S. Will Not Take Men From Germany

BY ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will publicly announce in West Germany many later this week that the United States has no intention of withdrawing any of its 250,000 troops now in Europe.

The imminent Rusk statement, disclosed Tuesday night by a high-ranking U.S. official, is designed to dispel German concern that the current airlift of 14,500 American fighting men from Texas foreshadows some future troop withdrawal.

German suspicions were aroused by a speech Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric made last Saturday in Chicago. The Big Lift exercise, he said, may enable the United States "to make some shifts in the form of our military presence" overseas.

As a result, Gilpatric said, the United States "should be able to make useful reductions in its heavy overseas expenditures."

Later it was learned the State Department had not agreed with that part of Gilpatric's speech but that its objections were overruled by the White House.

State Department officials insisted there is no immediate plan for troop reductions.

Time Extension Recommended For TV Station

Unit Wants Wausau Channel for Use as Education Station

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Federal Communications Commission Examiner has recommended that additional time be granted for construction of a Channel 9 television station in Wausau, Wis.

Examiner Charles J. Frederick ruled Tuesday that Central Wisconsin Television Inc. should be granted an extension to construct station WCWT and also it should be allowed to assign the construction permit to Mid-Continent Broadcasting Co.

The recommendation will become final in 50 days unless it is challenged or the full commission decides to review it.

Extension Opposed

The extension had been opposed by the Wisconsin Citizens Committee for Educational TV, Inc., which wanted the channel used for educational purposes.

The Wisconsin Valley Television Corp., which operates WSAU-TV, Wausau's first commercial TV station, also was involved in the dispute.

One of the questions cited by Frederick was whether Wisconsin Valley was improper in attempting to block another commercial channel in Wausau.

Refutes Charge

He decided nothing improper had taken place, but said: "WSAU's activity may have been over enthusiastic and may have gone beyond a truly objective interest in the development of an educational television station in Wausau."

Central Wisconsin was granted a construction permit for Channel 9 Sept. 8, 1961, with the stipulation that construction would be completed by May 8, 1962.

Police Seeking Would-be Burglar With Sore Hand

HOGARTY, Wis. (AP) — Marathon County authorities were searching today for a would-be burglar who probably is nursing a very sore hand.

Mrs. Mary Lancer, who lives alone near this rural community, said she heard a noise at her back door Monday night. She moved quietly into the room and saw "a man's hairy hand" trying to reach around the door to loosen the chain lock.

Mrs. Lancer, who walks with a cane, leaned hard on the door and then began to pound the hand with her cane. A man screamed, got his hand loose and fled.

The woman said she then took a couple of shots at him with a .22 calibre pistol as he vaulted the back fence.

"I missed", she said.

Official Ridicules Estimate of Added Biennium Revenue

MADISON (AP)—A state official said Tuesday night that an estimate by Republican leaders that Wisconsin tax collections will produce $20 million more than is expected is "pure guesswork."

Commissioner of Administration Howard Koop added, however, that "I hope they are right."

Sen. Walter Hollander of Rosendale and Assemblyman Glen Pommerening of Wauwatosa, both Republicans, said recently that tax collections in the 1963-65 biennium would exceed estimates by about $20 million.

Revised Estimates

Koop said that revised revenue estimates for 1963-65 would not be available before Nov. 1, but that he had seen no evidence yet of the $20 million increase.

The administrator added, however, that the state had gained $4 million more than was estimated. He said this was because an expected $29 million budget deficit at the end of the fiscal year ending in July actually was $27 million and the inheritance tax receipts were up $2 million. He said that the $4 million increase meant that $1.8 million in new revenue would be needed to balance the 1963-65 budget, instead of $5.8 million.

Expected Increase

The Republican leaders said that the $20 million increase they expected would be used to repeal the $2 income tax filing fee, restore a $10.5 million cut in school aides and balance the budget deficit.

Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds also has expressed displeasure with the $2 filing fee which was enacted in the closing hours before the Legislature recessed this summer until Nov. 4.

Planned in 1961

In disclosing Rusk's intentions Tuesday night, the high-ranking official explained that the idea of airlifting thousands of men was conceived in 1961 when the United States was suddenly confronted with the danger of a hot war on two fronts: Berlin and in Southeast Asia. Now that the lift is a reality, the Defense Department naturally has an eye on its dollar-saving possibilities.

AEC Considering Atom Accelerator For Stoughton

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said Tuesday night that the Bureau of the Budget is considering a request by the Atomic Energy Commission for $150 million for the construction of an atomic accelerator plant at Stoughton, Wis.

A committee headed by Norman F. Ramsey recommended earlier this year construction of the high intensity accelerator at a site near the University of Wisconsin.

Laird said he believed the chances are about 50-50 that the Budget Bureau will approve funds for the Wisconsin accelerator. If the bureau gives a go-ahead, he said, it is expected that only about $30 million would be approved for construction in the year starting July 1, 1964, as that is all that could be spent feasibly on the project in one year.

Plans for the Stoughton project were developed by Midwestern Universities Research Association (MURA) spokesmen for the group long have contended that top atomic scientists are being drained away from Midwest areas and that proposed accelerator is needed to keep them in the Midwest.

Laird said if the Budget Bureau does not approve this proposal, accelerator projects likely will be allocated to the East and West coasts.

Polaris Submarines Slated for Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nuclear submarines carrying Polaris missiles will be in the Pacific Ocean for the first time within the next 12 to 15 months, says Vice Adm. Elton W. Grenfell, commander of the U.S. Atlantic submarine force.

Grenfell and his top staff members have been meeting with Rear Adm. Bernard A. Clarey, commander of Pacific submarine forces, and his staff, at San Francisco's Hunter's Point shipyard.

Grenfell now has all 14 of the Navy's operational Polaris subs in his command.

He said the Pacific Polaris fleet will use Guam as its operational headquarters with crew training facilities at Pearl Harbor.

Home Yields 4 Titles to Run For Commons

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Lord Home formally renounced his ancient peerages today, making possible his election to the House of Commons.

With a stroke of a pen, the prime minister shed four Scottish and English titles that had taken his blue-blooded family 500 years to collect.

But Home did not become a commoner immediately. Not until his disclaimer has been formally acknowledged and documented by the lord chancellor can he claim this privilege. This act was expected later today.

Home will then be known as Sir Alec Frederick Douglas-Home. He holds the title "sir" because he is a Knight of Thistle. This is not a peerage.

Home's historic act marked a new phase in the swiftly moving British political crisis. It was the prelude to his campaign to win a seat in the House of Commons through democratic election.

By his act of renunciation he was a prime minister without a seat in the House of Lords, or the House of Commons, which peers may not enter. Constitutional authorities said they knew of no parallel in modern British political history.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the Tuesday news from Washington:

TAKE CARE: President Ken- Pauling said, it would be possible to answer 1,000 interesting and important questions about the human body for every one question answered about the moon.

"Science today has the power for the first time in history to undertake experiments with premeditation which can irreversibly alter our biological and physical environment on a global scale," he said in a speech Tuesday before the National Academy of Sciences.

He cautioned that in attempts to modify the weather, for example, science must guard against the hazards of throwing nature out of balance — of creating drought or storm.

The Commerce Department has dealings with shipping interests and in the past has been involved in transactions with the Onassis.

Cut in Surplus Foods For Viet Nam Planned As Economic Pressure

Part of Policy to Persuade Diem From Totalitarianism

BY SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to cut down on surplus food shipments to South Viet Nam.

The new economic pressure is part of a hardened policy, the object of which is persuading Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem to reverse what high State Department officials feel is a trend toward totalitarian government.

Official Washington is equally concerned that Diem get on with the job of defeating the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas.

The first evidence of the new policy was announcement Monday that further financial support to the special force troops controlled by Diem's influential brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, will be withheld until the soldiers are assigned to war duty. Some of these crack paratroopers led raids this summer against Buddhist pagodas.

The planned food restrictions involve mostly wheat flour, cotton and milk. No negotiations on a 1964 allotment of surplus food commodities are scheduled.

Surplus Foods

The United States made available approximately $60 million worth of surplus foods for the 1963 fiscal year. About $27 million worth which entered into commercial channels and provided funds to the South Viet Nam government now appears subject to prolonged review.

Earlier this month the U.S. foreign aid agency held up a $85-million program of commodity imports financed by the U.S. government. This affected machinery, spare parts, steel products and other import items.

Caused Alarm

This has spread alarm among Viet Nam businessmen who tend to hoard commodities the source of future supply is threatened. The result is the start of a price spiral in Saigon.

U.S. officials have ruled out an ultimatum to the Diem government. Also there is no support here for the idea of installing a new government. But officials believe the United States must make plain that it cannot condone what are considered repressive policies.

Appleton High Plans Production of 'Kismet'

Musical Will Involve More Than 250 Students and Faculty Members

Appleton High School speech and music departments today announced the selection of "Kismet" as the musical comedy production to be presented in February.

The production will involve more than 250 students and faculty members and the efforts of the speech, music, art, home economics and English departments.

An introductory meeting was held last week for all students interested in trying out for vocal parts. Because of the large turnout of over 80 tryouts will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on three evenings, Friday, Monday and Tuesday.

150 Technicians

"Kismet" has a cast of about 75 individual roles, a chorus of 16 and a small dancing group of about 10. All roles will be taken by members of the AHS student body.

A crew call was issued Tuesday for those interested in technical aspects of the production. An estimated 150 students will be needed to handle lighting, sets, costumes, make-up, properties and sound.

Directors of the show are Lee Schoeni, drama, Jack Burroughs, production, and Frank Comella, music coordinator.

Lester Schultz will supervise vocalists and Harold Hoecherl will work with string sections.

"Kismet," written by Charles Lederer and Luther Davis, colorfully portrays the East in scenes shifting from the teeming Bazaar of the Caravans to the moonlit gardens of Bagdad.

The story involves the leading character, Hajj, a poet-beggar, and his "kismet" or fate. He becomes an Emir of Bagdad in a single day. During this day, Hajj gains wealth, finds love, avenges wrongs done his daughter, triumphs over a wicked Wazir and rises to a position of eminence. All occurs through a series of wondrous happenings and Hajj's use of his own guile.

Running parallel to Hajj's story is that of his daughter, Marsinah, who falls in love with the Caliph while he is disguised as the gardener. The poet's daughter eventually marries the Caliph.

Search for Relatives May Have Ended

Appleton Woman Says She Might Be Long-Lost Kin

Success may have come for a German woman who came to Appleton last month in search of long-lost relatives.

Mrs. Frieda Rohde, 65 of Malden-on-Hudson, New York, was searching for relatives who came to Appleton from Germany in the 1890s or their descendants. Her search was to satisfy a deathbed promise her father, who became separated from his family when he was hospitalized just before they sailed for America and never was able to contact them again.

Miss Anna Semler, 1103 N. Durkee St., Appleton, read of Mrs. Rohde's visit to Appleton in the Post-Crescent, and wrote to her about a possibility of their being related. Miss Semler's parents immigrated from Germany. Her mother and Mrs. Rohde's grandmother who came to the United States with two sisters and their families, had the same maiden name, and Miss Semler believes she may be a first cousin of Mrs. Rohde's father.

May Have Changed

The three sisters, whose maiden name was Hausknecht, came to the United States with their husbands and families in the late 19th century. Their married names were Rohde, Semrow and Beyer. Mrs. Rohde said the spelling of the names may have been changed after they came to this country.

While in Appleton, Mrs. Rohde located several possible relatives including Norman Bever, 1722 W. Spring St., and Siegfried Reinke, route 3, Appleton, but could not trace the relationship definitely.

Mrs. Rohde came to the United States about six years ago and lives with her daughter in New York. She plans another trip to Appleton next summer.

"Thank You"

"Community growth always results from joint community effort. To everyone who has assisted in the effort which is now becoming a reality, the county board and its airport committee extend a special thank you."

Nearly 100 officials and spectators were present at the Dexter Maas farm, one-half mile east of U.S. 45, site of the ground-breaking.

Earlier in the afternoon, representatives of the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission went over specifications and contracts for the new airport with county officials and representatives of Ralph H. Burke, Inc., Park Ridge, Ill., airport engineers for the project.

Mercury Hits All-Time High in Appleton

Appleton set an all-time record for high temperature on an Oct. 23 today as the mercury soared to a pleasant 76.

Observers at the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. said the previous record was 71.

Temperatures over the entire state were pushing near records as unseasonably warm readings were forecast into the weekend.

The long-range outlook called for a turn toward cooler weather late in the weekend, however.

The board referred the matter to the site committee which is studying possible land purchases for future school use.

School Nurse

The board discussed the possibility of hiring a school nurse for hearing and eye testing programs, immunization clinics and pre-school physical examinations.

These duties were formerly handled by the city nurse, but Kaukauna has been without a city nurse for over six months. School board members felt they could hire a nurse easier than the city and thought of offering a salary equivalent to a beginning teacher. The proposal was held for further study.

Approval was given to the Calumet County traffic department for first aid and health instruction for traffic department personnel.

The board voted to have the insurance on Keyes Street here electrical contractor for the new Tuesday.

Other Revenues Up; Spending Boosted $40,203 to $4,486,507; County to Consider Plan Nov. 4

BY DICK LYNES
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County's property tax levy would be $1,861,323, an increase of $20,503 over 1963, under the proposed 1964 budget to be presented to the county board Nov. 4.

Total spending in the new budget is up $40,203 to $4,486,507. However, expected revenues other than from the tax levy are also higher — $2,625,184 compared to this year's $2,605,484, an increase of $19,700.

With spending $40,203 higher and revenues only $19,700 higher, the difference — $20,503 — must be made up in higher property taxes if the budget, as it now stands, is approved.

Biggest spending increase is in the health category, where $306,169 is proposed. Health figure for the 1963 budget was $313,555, or $192,613 less than this year's figure.

Accounting for the boost in health spending are three items: (with this year's figures in parentheses) county general hospital $82,361 ($7,900), Golden Age Home No. 2 $218,431 ($185,469), and the county tuberculosis sanatorium $126,116 ($62,628).

Protection Costs Up

Other categories with large spending increases are protection of person and property, up $26,242; categorical aids, up $22,037; penal up $12,735; sundry, up $37,000; and unclassified up $20,360.

The increases in protection come principally from a $7,876 increase for the sheriff's department including $1,300 for a Le detector, a $1,825 boost for traffic police and an $11,700 increase in Civil Defense spending.

An $18,350 increase in aid to dependent children accounts for most of the increase in the categorical aids column. A $13,023 boost in jail spending supplies the increase in penal spending. A $35,072 expenditure for the county farm is the principal boost in sundry spending while an undetermined increase in the county's share of the employee retirement program supplies the bulk of increased unclassified spending.

Categories reflecting decreased spending are:

General government, down $33,862; education, down $76,000.

Appleton's Drop-Out Rate Is 18 Per Cent

Appleton's school drop-out rate is about 18 per cent, William Spears, assistant superintendent of schools and curriculum director, told the PTA Council Tuesday. He said the problem is being studied by other officials in the city.

He explained a drop out is any student who leaves high school and does not return for any reason, including vocational school attendance. Spears said this definition is accepted by national educators.

The rate, he said, was projected from present figures. He warned local PTA presidents and representatives the percent age was "too high for a community of this stature."

Election Unit May Represent City Employees

Appleton Workers To Decide if They Want Union as Agent

A union representation election will be held at the Appleton City Home in the near future for 10 employees, it was agreed Tuesday during a hearing conducted by Neil Gunderman, Madison examiner for the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB).

Representatives of the city and the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees (AFL-CIO) attended.

Robert Swanson, business agent for the union, petitioned the WERB for an election so his group can represent employees in negotiating wages, hours and working conditions.

The election, the date to be set by the WERB, will give employees an opportunity to determine whether they want the union as their official bargaining agent under provisions of the new Municipal Employee Act.

Hearing Participants

Others participating in the hearing included Merton Ehrliche, city welfare department director, Robert Bastian, city home superintendent, City Atty. Frederick Froehlich, Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), chairman of the council's welfare-ordinance committee, and Finance Director Donald Hassler.

There were no intervening unions which left the way clear for Swanson's union to be the only one on the ballot.

The WERB examiner certified that all employees except those in supervisory capacity, will be eligible to vote.

Should the majority of votes favor union representation, the city will then be bound under law to bargain with the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees.

Election Unit Approved

Gunderman ruled the union's claim for designating certain employees as a unit for election purposes was appropriate.

In the event the union loses the election, the question of bargaining representation cannot be raised for one-year period under the law.

The discussion between union and city officials was a cordial one. However, the latter admitted they were not too informed on the operation of the law.

3 Cars Damaged In Two Collisions Within 40 Minutes

NEENAH — Two Neenah accidents within 40 minutes of each other Tuesday afternoon resulted in extensive damage to three vehicles and one traffic ticket for inattentive driving.

Damage to the right front fender, bumper and radiator of Miller's vehicle was estimated at more than $100. He was ticked by Neenah police for inattentive driving.

At 2:10 p.m. a car driven by Erma D. Remick, 21 Taeco St., Menasha, collided with a car driven by Jennie D. Town, 80 Mathewson St., Menasha at the River Street and High Street intersection.

According to police reports neither of the women saw the other.

Water Department, Union Will Have Dispute Mediated

Wages, Hours, Work Conditions, Issues in Year-Long Controversy

A year-long labor dispute between the Appleton Water Commission and the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees (AFL-CIO) agreed to it Robert Swanson of County and Municipal Employees union representative, said employees was put in the hands of, though fact-finding was requested, his group preferred mediation.

For more than a year the union has been in negotiations with the water commission over wages, hours and working conditions for 10 unionized plant workers.

Commission Agrees

Wages are the main stumbling block, and the union filed a petition with the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board asking for a fact-finding under terms of the Municipal Employee Act.

However, when the hearing petition stipulated agreement was conducted on the petition had been arrived at with the water by Neil Gunderman, examiner for the WERB, the water commissioners He suggested that mediation, rather than fact-finding at this time, might prove more fruitful in eliminating the present impasse with regard to salary increases.

Disagrees With Report

The union indicated it did not go along with a State Bureau of Personnel wage classification report which was prepared at the request of the Water Commission several months ago.

The union and water department officials first started informal talks on a contract in December of 1962. Formal negotiations got underway in March of 1963.

Walter J. Humme, 420 W. Union St., was retained by the Water Commission as its chief negotiator. He and Swanson were principal spokesmen for the two sides during Tuesday's hearing at city hall.

Gunderman concluded from informal discussion with both parties that there had been a

Musical Will Involve More Than 250 Students and Faculty Members

Appleton High School speech and music departments today announced the selection of "Kismet" as the musical comedy production to be presented in February.

The production will involve more than 250 students and faculty members and the efforts of the speech, music, art, home economics and English departments.

An introductory meeting was held last week for all students interested in trying out for vocal parts. Because of the large turnout of over 80, tryouts will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on three evenings, Friday, Monday and Tuesday.

150 Technicians "Kismet" has a cast of about 75 individual roles, a chorus of 16 and a small dancing group of about 10. All roles will be taken by members of the AHS student body.

Ground Broken, Construction Gets Under Way for Airport

Outagamie County took a giant step forward into the jet age Tuesday afternoon.

Ground officially was broken and construction was started on the county's new multi-million dollar airport in the Town of Greenville.

Today bulldozers and earth-moving machines of the Fox Valley Construction Co. began clearing land north of Spencer Road and south of U.S. 45 where part of the 5,200-foot long north-south runway will be located.

Gus A. Zuehlke, president of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, termed Tuesday afternoon's ceremony "an historic event."

He congratulated the county for its "far-sightedness in the development of a new, modern airport. This is the result of almost 20 years of planning and hard work," he said.

Zuehlke pointed out that by

St. Norbert Professor Addresses Xavier Parents Tonight

The Rev. Arnold J. Schinkten, O. Praem., assistant professor of psychology and education at St. Norbert College, will address the Parent - Teachers meeting in Xavier High School tonight.

The meeting will begin at 8:15 p.m. Father Schinkten Rev. Schinkten will talk on "Teen-age Psychology."

He is a native of Sturgeon Bay, and a 1936 graduate of St. Norbert. He holds a master's degree in psychology from the Catholic University of America.

Lee Schoeni, drama, Jack Burroughs, production, and Frank Comella, music coordinator.

Lester Schultz will supervise vocalists and Harold Hoecherl will work with string sections. "Kismet," written by Charles Lederer and Luther Davis, colorfully portrays the East in scenes shifting from the teeming Bazaar of the Caravans to the moonlit gardens of Bagdad.

The story involves the leading character, Hajj, a poet-beggar, and his "kismet" or fate. He becomes an Emir of Bagdad in a single day. During this day, Hajj gains wealth, finds love, avenges wrongs done his daughter, triumphs over a wicked Wazir and rises to a position of eminence. All occurs through a series of wondrous happenings. All occurs through a series of wondrous happenings and Hajj's use of his own guile.

Running parallel to Hajj's story is that of his daughter, Marisah, who falls in love with the Caliph while he is disguised as the gardener. The poet's daughter eventually marries the Caliph.

Search for Relatives May Have Ended

Appleton Woman Says She Might Be Long-Lost Kin

Success may have come for a German woman who came to Appleton last month in search of long-lost relatives.

Mrs. Frieda Rohde, 65, of Malden-on-Hudson, New York, was searching for relatives who came to Appleton from Germany in the 1890s, or their descendants. Her search was to satisfy a deathbed promise to her father, who became separated from his family when he was hospitalized just before they sailed for America and never was able to contact them again.

Miss Anna Semler, 1103 N. Durkee St., Appleton, read of Mrs. Rohde's visit to Appleton in the Post-Crescent, and wrote to her about a possibility of their being related. Miss Semler's parents immigrated from Germany. Her mother and Mrs. Rohde's grandmother, who came to the United States with two sisters and their families, had the same maiden name, and Miss Semler believes she may be a first cousin of Mrs. Rohde's father.

May Have Changed The three sisters, whose maiden name was Hausknecht, came to the United States with their husbands and families in the late 19th century. Their married names were Rohde, Semrow and Beyer. Mrs. Rohde said the spelling of the names may have been changed after they came to this country.

While in Appleton, Mrs. Rohde located several possible relatives, including Norman Beyer, 1722 W. Spring St., and Siegfried Reinke, route 3, Appleton, but could not trace the relationship definitely.

Mrs. Rohde came to the United States about six years ago, and lives with her daughter in New York. She plans another trip to Appleton next summer.

Mercury Hits All-Time High In Appleton

Appleton set an all-time record for high temperature on an Oct. 23 today as the mercury soared to a pleasant 76.

Observers at the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. said the previous record was 71.

Temperatures over the entire state were pushing near records as unseasonably warm readings were forecast into the weekend.

The long-range outlook called for a turn toward cooler weather late in the weekend, however.

Twin City Policemen Attend FBI School

MENASHA — Six Menasha policemen and two from Neenah today attended a one day school on search and seizure in Manitowoc conducted by a corps of FBI agents and the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police Association.

The school is the second in a series of three conducted for law enforcement officials in the Fox River Valley area. Twenty-three Neenah-Menasha police officers attended a similar session in Oshkosh Monday.

Sewer and water has not yet been extended into the area, but is available. An alternate proposal for the same area, submitted by the owners, called for $25,000 for 8.5 acres already platted into lots and $5,000 for the remaining acreage if an option is granted. The board referred the matter to the site committee which is studying possible land purchases for future school use.

School Nurse The board discussed the possibility of hiring a school nurse for hearing and eye testing programs, immunization clinics and pre - school physical examinations.

These duties were formerly handled by the city nurse, but Kaukauna has been without a city nurse for over six months. School board members felt they could hire a nurse easier than the city and thought of offering a salary equivalent to a beginning teacher. The proposal was held for further study.

Approval was given to the Calumet County traffic department for using Harrison School for first aid and health instruction for traffic department personnel.

The board voted to have the electrical contractor for the new

Other Revenues Up; Spending Boosted $40,203 to $4,486,507; County to Consider Plan Nov. 4

BY DICK LYNEIS Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County's property tax levy would be $1,861,323, an increase of $20,503 over 1963, under the proposed 1964 budget to be presented to the county board Nov. 4.

Total spending in the new budget is up $40,203 to $4,486,507.

However, expected revenues other than from the tax levy are also higher — $2,625,184 compared to this year's $2,605,484.48, an increase of $19,700.

With spending $40,203 higher and revenues only $19,700 higher, the difference — $20,503 — must be made up in higher property taxes if the budget, as it now stands, is approved.

Biggest spending increase is in the health category where $306,189 is proposed. Health figure for the 1963 budget was $313,555, or $192,613 less than this year's figure.

Accounting for the boost in health spending are three items (with this year's figures in parentheses): county general hospital $82,361 ($7,300), Golden Age Home No. 2 $218,431 ($185,469) and the county tuberculosis sanatorium $126,116 ($82,628).

Protection Costs Up Other categories with large spending increases are protection of person and property, up $26,242; categorical aids, up $22,037; penal, up $12,735; sundry, up $37,000, and unclassified up $20,360.

The increases in protection come principally from a $7,876 increase for the sheriff's department, including $1,300 for a lie detector, a $3,825 boost for traffic police, and an $11,700 increase in Civil Defense spending.

An $18,350 increase in aid to dependent children accounts for most of the increase in the categorical aids column; a $13,023 boost in jail spending supplies the increase in penal spending; a $35,072 expenditure for the county farm is the principal boost in sundry spending while an undetermined increase in the county's share of the employee retirement program supplies the bulk of increased "unclassified" spending.

Categories reflecting decreased spending are: General government, down $33,862; education, down $75,000.

Water Department, Union Will Have Dispute Mediated

Wages, Hours, Work Conditions, Issues in Year-Long Controversy

A year-long labor dispute between the Appleton Water Commission and the Wisconsin Municipal Employees Union is expected to be resolved by a fact-finding commission reconvened its previous session.

The union indicated it did not go along with a State Bureau of Personnel wage classification report which was prepared at the request of the Water Commission several months ago.

The union and water department officials first started informal talks on a contract in December of 1962. Formal negotiations got underway in March of 1963.

Walter J. Humme, 420 W. Union St., was retained by the Water Commission as its chief negotiator. He and Swanson were principal spokesmen for the two sides during Tuesday's hearing at city hall.

Gunderman concluded from informal discussion with both parties that there had been a Disagrees With Report The union indicated it did not go along with a State Bureau of Personnel wage classification report which was prepared at the request of the Water Commission several months ago.

The union has been attempting to get a contract with the water commission since the union was certified as the official bargaining representative for the plant employees. About 15 other water department employees are non-union.

Swanson claims the non-union employees have "received a better deal" from the Water Commission than that offered to the unionized group.

Gunderman said the union's petition stipulated agreement had been arrived at with the water commission on several matters. He suggested that mediation, rather than fact-finding at this time, might prove more fruitful in eliminating the present impasse with regard to salary increases.

Election Unit May Represent City Employees

Appleton Workers To Decide if They Want Union as Agent

A union representation election will be held at the Appleton City Home in the near future for 10 employees, it was agreed Tuesday during a hearing conducted by Neil Gunderman, Madison, examiner for the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB).

Representatives of the city and the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, attended.

Robert Swanson, business agent for the union, petitioned the WERB for an election so his group can represent employees in negotiating wages, hours and working conditions.

The election, the date to be set by the WERB, will give employees an opportunity to determine whether they want the union as their official bargaining agent under provisions of the new Municipal Employee Act.

Hearing Participants Others participating in the hearing included: Merton Enrick, city welfare department director; Robert Bastian, city home superintendent; City Atty. Frederick Froehlich; Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), chairman of the council's welfare-ordinance committee; and Finance Director Donald Hassler.

There were no intervening unions which left the way clear for Swanson's union to be the only one on the ballot.

The WERB examiner certified that all employees except those in supervisory capacity, will be eligible to vote.

Should the majority of votes favor union representation, the city will then be bound under law to bargain with the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees.

Election Unit Approved Gunderman ruled the union's claim for designating certain employees as a unit for election purposes was appropriate.

In the event the union loses the election, the question of bargaining representation cannot be raised for one-year period under the law.

The discussion between union and city officials was a cordial one. However, the latter admitted they were not too informed on the operation of the law.

Oshkosh Group Wants Budget Cut by $105,000

OSHKOSH — Two Oshkosh city officials appeared before the Winnebago County Board during its budget hearing this morning to ask deletion of the $105,000 for a new all-purpose building at the fairgrounds from the budget.

Erbin Harenburg, council president, said the City of Oshkosh is interested in acquiring the fairgrounds property at some future time but he did not know how soon this would be.

WNAM Files FCC Application

NEENAH — Radio Station WNAM has filed an application with the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D.C., for authority to construct and operate an FM station. It was announced today by Don C. Wirth, general manager.

The application requests Channel 230, 93.9 megacycles on the frequency modulation band with an effective radiated power of 36,540 watts.

WNAM "pioneered" FM in the Fox Cities for the period from late 1949 to August of 1953 when WNAM-FM suspended operation and the license returned to the FCC. However, major advances in the technical operation of FM have been made in recent years and there are now more than 2,000 FM stations operating in the United States.

Driver of Stolen Auto Hits County Car; Officer Hurt

OSHKOSH — A Winnebago County traffic patrolman was injured about 5:30 a.m. today when his patrol car was rammed by a 16-year old Oshkosh youth who was fleeing police in a stolen car at speeds of over 100 miles an hour.

Patrolman Robert Berrell, 42, route 2, Dunning Street, Menasha, was taken to Mercy Hospital by Oshkosh police. His injuries were not believed to be serious.

The car had been stolen during the night from the Robert Poklasy residence, 712 Ohio St. and driven to Ripon by the youth who fled that city when Ripon police attempted to stop him for speeding.

A Ripon squad followed the stolen car northeast on State 44 and radioed Winnebago County for assistance. The youth drove the stolen car around two Winnebago County squad cars and by Berrell, from behind about

Hearing on Appleton Rail Facility Scheduled

A public hearing on an application by Consolidated Papers, Inc., will be held by the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin Nov. 6 in Madison, Edward Keveny, commission secretary, announced.

The application concerns a proposed railroad car shelter at the paper company's Appleton plant. It asks an exemption from a state statute on required dimensions of such a facility. The paper company, although served by the Chicago and North Western Railway, handles switching of cars in the shelter area with its own equipment and crews, according to the application.

County Civil Defense Status Is Appraised

Director Lauds Neenah for Well Equipped Shelters

OSHKOSH — County Civil Defense Director George Oaks Tuesday reviewed for the Winnebago County board the status of civil defense organization within the county.

He said he had nothing but the highest compliments for Neenah where practically every one of its fallout shelters has been stocked with water, survival biscuits, medical supplies and radiological equipment.

Oshkosh has been slow in getting its buildings posted and gical monitoring. Since one man can not be on duty the full 24 hours, this means at least three persons will have to be trained for each shelter.

The youth was not injured and was taken into custody by Ripon police.

School Library Equipment Bid Gets Approval

Offer of Oshkosh Firm Accepted by Board of Education

NEENAH — The Buckstaff Company, Oshkosh, was the successful bidder on equipment for the Coolidge School library. Acting in special session, the Neenah board of education Tuesday awarded a contract to furnish a charge out desk, book cart, card catalogue, study tables and shelving to that commercial furniture firm, total contract $2,216.94. Delivery is promised within 60 days.

In September the board of education approved the purchase of approximately 600 books for the Coolidge library and the purchase of the necessary furniture and equipment to put the library in operation. At present Coolidge School has no library and is not being serviced by the Neenah Public Library.

Mid-December Use
Dr. Donald Scott, superintendent, told the board that plans call for the Coolidge School library to be in operation by mid-December. He also pointed out that application will be made to the Knapp Foundation but warned that one of the requirements is that a library be functioning by Dec. 1, and he questioned that the new facility would qualify on that one point.

Next Monday the board of education will meet with Fred Kramer, architect, and Herman Kath, supervisor for Perkins and Will at the Neenah High School construction project, in Prim H. O. Borgen's office.

At this meeting the board will go over a punch list and make a complete inspection of the building and remodeling work before considering the final acceptance of the building. James Clark, business administrator, stressed that a punch list is a routine type of device used by architects and contractors showing the list of things left to be done before they consider a building project complete.

The board of education will meet with Mayor Carl Loehning and the City Council at 8 p.m., Oct. 30, to discuss the 1964 operating school budget. The regular meeting of the board of education will be 4:30 p.m., Nov. 4.

Neenah Optimist Plan Pram Sailing Fleet Award Dinner Tuesday

NEENAH — The Neenah Optimist will hold its pram sailing fleet award dinner at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Whiting Boat House, chairman Ivaux Anderson Jr., announced Tuesday.

All youngsters 12 to 15 who participated in the sailing program this past summer are invited, he said.
Cyril W. Peterson, 711 Maple St., Neenah, a former U.S. Naval Air Force officer, addressed the weekly noon Optimist luncheon Tuesday at the Valley Inn for 3½ years from 1959-62, and presented the group with his impressions of this far east country.

Request New Street Lights In Neenah

NEENAH — The Neenah street and sanitation committee of the common council Monday recommended that the city replace street lights with 189 multiple series watt bulbs at a rate of 25 per year.

The project would cost the city about $2.13 per bulb or $53.25 per year. The present street lights to be replaced are 250 candle power (c.p.).

The committee had considered a 400 c.p. bulb which would cost $3.74 each but favored the 189 watt type.

In other business the committee reviewed the possibilities of renting a Sno-Thro machine for three months at $400 per month with an option to buy.

A film showing the machine in action was shown to the committee. Representatives from Wausau Iron Works, and Drott Tractor were invited to make presentations to the committee on their various snow removing machines.

LITTLE CHUTE — Several hundred dollars damage was reported in an accident about 2:50 p.m. Monday at County Highway 00 and Madison Street.

According to police, Ray Vercauteren, 44, 327 Jacobs Court, West DePere, was traveling east on 00 and about to make a left turn onto Madison Street when a car driven by Charles J. misunderstanding on the Water Commission's position with regard to reducing the work week from 42 to 40 hours. Humme said the commission agreed to the union request "with no strings attached."

"News to Me"
Swanson said it was "news to me", contending the commission had previously taken a different position on the matter.

It was claimed the Water Commission's wage offer amounted to a 4.5 per cent hike. However, union officials said that compared with what non-union employees received, there was an inequity.

Humme contended the work duties of employees outside the water plant could not be compared with those inside, and neither could the pay scales.

"We feel we have to make the comparison," Swanson said, noting that a year ago the work week of distribution employees was reduced from 50 to 42 hours. He emphasized union workers were asking for a two-hour reduction, citing there was a difference in dollars when a comparison is made.

Mutual Consent
Swanson said he made a request for mediation at one stage of the negotiations but the Water Commission turned it down. Under the law, mediation by state or federal mediators must be by mutual consent.

"The commission felt at that time that mediation would prove no useful purpose," Humme said. However, the commission representatives agreed to reconsider the matter and held a 10-minute caucus outside the hearing room.

Upon returning, Humme stated, "The commission has no objection to going through mediation; we want to resolve this thing."

Gunderman reminded both sides that if mediation did not solve the labor-management dispute, a petition for fact-finding would still be in order.

Gunderman met privately with each side shortly after 5 p.m. He announced the first mediation session is scheduled for Nov. 4 at 7 p.m. at the water department office.

There was no dollars-and-cents figure given as to how far apart the union and Water Commission are on the wage issue.

A smiling Mary Sturm, 9, 1503 S. Oneida St., shows off the three books she won for her unusual entry in a September Young Hobby Club contest. She and four other youngsters in the United States were national winners in the weekly contest. Appleton Girl, 9, Wins Big Hobby Club Prize

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A little girl with a big idea is the latest National Hobby Club winner and consequently the proud owner of a set of books on science, geography and words.

Mary Sturm, 9, Sacred Heart School fourth grader and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sturm, 1503 S. Oneida St., has won a prize that all of her seven brothers and two sisters can use. Of course, some members of the family will have to grow up a little into "reading" age before this is possible.

Mary's three-volume prize includes a junior dictionary, "Everyday Problems in Science" and "In All Our States," just about right to help enrich the school work of brothers Fred, 14, Bob, 13, Dick, 12, Jerry, 11, and Mary herself. Coming up the school ladder are Dan, 8, Karen, 7, with pre-schoolers Joe, 5, Tim, 3 and baby Kay, 8 months, completing the Sturm family.

The winsome, dark-haired Mary, who readily admits she likes her play hours as well as those in school, dreamed up an ingenious presentation of the Sept. 11 Young Hobby Club contest to rightfully earn one of the five national prizes. The only other national winners for that week were Hobby Club fans from South Bend and Indianapolis, Ind., Brookline, Mass., and Westfield, N.J.

She took the 12 miniature heads of football players printed in the weekly puzzle and, after correctly marking the one different from the rest, created a football team from them and placed them on a playing field.

The football players were made from pipe cleaners. The football field was made in the bottom of an oblong cardboard box, first covered with glue then sprinkled liberally with sparkling green sugar. After the field stripes and pipe cleaner goal posts were added, Mary glued her 11 players into place. Pop went the cover on the box and the entry was ready to be wrapped and mailed into columnist Cappy Dick.

Clue From Cousin
Although this is Mary's first big prize in the Young Hobby Club, she long has been a reader of the column. She became interested as a contestant during the summer after a visit with her cousin, Janet Plutz.

Mary also is an area winner for the Sept. 11 contest, since only area winners qualify for the five national prizes.

Other area winners for that week include two Appleton and two rural Bear Creek youngsters. They are Andy Martin, 11, 738 E. Alton St., John Schnese, 12, 1707 S. Outagamie St., and Beverly Reinke, 12, and Merlin Reinke, 13, route 1, Bear Creek. Each of the area winners received a tic-tac-toe game from Cappy Dick.

Menasha Man Injured In One-Car Collision
MENASHA — One person was injured and more than $100 in damages caused in a one car accident here shortly before midnight Monday.

Mike Kramblean, 19, 115 Madison St., Menasha, received a cut chin when he apparently lost control of the car he was driving and hit a utility pole in front of 220 Madison Street.

Minor damage was caused at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday when Darrell G. Redmond, 16, 22 Tayco St., Menasha, backed a car out of a driveway at 22 Tayco and bumped a car belonging to Hazel C. Bogrand, 572 Grove St., Neenah.

Home Economics Class To Serve at Meeting

Serving for the 18-member class will be Virginia Cornelius, Delores Sokolowski, Lynn Lettau, Sharon Trader, Roseann Wenzel, Judy King, Pat Tucherer, Vicki Nagreen and Corliss Webster.

2 New Buildings At OSC Given Official Names

Rufus Halsey, Ralph Buckstaff Okayed by Regents

MADISON — The new science building and planetarium at Oshkosh State College will be known as Halsey Center and Buckstaff Planetarium.

Resolutions naming the science center after Rufus Halsey, former president of the college, and the planetarium after Ralph Buckstaff, who donated the Buckstaff Observatory to the college, were to be acted upon today at Madison by the Board of Regents of State Colleges.

Halsey was the second president of the college, serving from 1898 to 1907. A native of Blooming Grove, N. Y., Halsey first came to Oshkosh in 1883 as principal of Oshkosh High School. He was named superintendent of Oshkosh public schools in 1891.

In 1895 he went to Binghamton, N. Y., as superintendent of schools and then returned to Oshkosh as president of Oshkosh Normal School in 1898.

Halsey believed in the philosophy of "education by precept and example."

He was killed in a hunting accident in July of 1907 at Lake Gogebic in Upper Michigan.

Buckstaff, retired president of the Buckstaff Co. of Oshkosh, furniture manufacturers, has given his observatory, one of the best equipped in the state, to Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh. He is on the college faculty as director of the observatory, a non-paying job.

He has served as a cooperative weather observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce for many years. Weather observing is one of his scientific hobbies. Other interests include entomology, with an outstanding collection of butterflies and a collection of about 6,000 specimens of insects; meteorite collecting, and observing and logging sun spots. He has been president of the Oshkosh Public Museum Board for many years.

Folk Festival Evolves From 1963 Hootenanny

Israeli Song Duo Headliners of Benefit Program Nov. 19 in Stansbury Theater

Last spring's Lawrence College hootenanny, which drew an estimated 900 persons, has blossomed into the semi-annual Lawrence Benefit Folk Festival, a stage production with all proceeds going to Lawrence United Charities.

This year's fall festival will be at 8 15 p.m. Nov. 19 in Stansbury Theater of Lawrence College Music-Drama Center.

Marve and Arlene, professional Israeli folk duo, will headline the program. They are Elektra recording artists recently returned from the Bitter End and Town Hall in New York City and The Fickle Pickle in Chicago.

Last spring's hootenanny was organized as a "trial balloon" to test folk music interest in the Fox Valley area and on the Lawrence campus. The spring event was organized by student Dusty Rhoades and Post-Crescent staff writer Mark E. Oliva.

Because of the enthusiastic response, Oliva and Bob Malueg, the latter an Appleton sophomore at Lawrence, decided to try making the event a semi-annual spring and fall affair.

Instead of running the program as an outdoor hootenanny again, it is being set up in the form of a folk festival. All talent has been pre-selected, advance, part of it booked by its organizers, and the rest through open auditions last Saturday.

10-Minute Acts

Each act is being allotted eight to 10 minutes program time, except for the professional group. All performers will have their programs prepared in advance, and the entire program will be rehearsed before the performance.

The show will open with all the performers in the first half singing together. Malueg then will give an opening welcome, master of ceremonies Don Beyer of WAPL will open the program and the singing will continue until intermission at the half-way mark. Singers in the second half will present their programs and the show will close with another group sing.

In addition to Marve and Arlene, the program will include: Lawrence students Bill Spoford, balladeer; the Sharecroppers, old-timey music; Jim Brogmans, balladeer; Phil Shal-

CBS Reports Probes Case Of Funerals

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — CBS Reports tiptoes cautiously past "The Great American Funeral," a show which producer David Lowe told TV Scout is "not an expose or muckraking." Through interviews and shots of funerals and funeral homes, Lowe's cameras give both sides of the current controversy.

7-7:30 (Channel 11) — The Patty Duke Show comes out four-square for blackmail in the home. Except for an obviously tacked-on ending, this comedy seems to approve of kids planting tape-recorders around the house.

Mystery writer Glynis guest star Diahann Carroll do Johns gives murder tips to Ed-most of the work. She plays a die Foy Jr., supposedly for his marvelous nurse, who goes to writing but really for a genuine work on Robert Wagner, an ex-murder he contemplates.

8-9 (Channel 11) — There's more law than medicine practiced on Ben Casey, concluding its two-parter in which Ben and the hospital are sued for his unauthorized operation on Barry Sullivan's son.

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — Espionage has a queer one, a good story about a serious subject charmen.

"Twilight of Honor," opening today at the Viking Theater in Appleton and Time Theater in Oshkosh, stars Richard Chamberlain as the crusading defense attorney who challenges an entire town to save his client from the gas chamber. The story of a sensational murder trial introduces a new feminine actress, Joey Heatherton, and co-stars Claude Rains, Nick Adams, Joan Blackman, James Gregory and Pat Buttram.

laced with bits of humor that seem out of place. Barry Foster is a British counter-espionage agent who is asked to infiltrate a ban-the-bomb group. These pacifists are somehow getting state secrets to use in their campaign.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Dick Van Dyke Show, takes a highly moral stand and has fun in the process. Dick and Mary Tyler Moore accidentally evsdrop on their neighbors and hear some unflattering comments. Their reactions at a subsequent party are delightful.

9-10 (Channel 2) — Gene Kelly and pretty young singer-dancer Michele Lee help brighten the Danny Kaye Show. Funniest sketch has Danny trying to do business over lunch in a restaurant which features a fashion show.

Green Bay Boasts NFL's Leading 1-2 Punch in Rushing Jerry Kramer Takes Over Third Place Among Scorers

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers have the best 1-2 running punch in the National Football League and with quarterback Bart Starr sidelined they'll probably need it Sunday against the Colts at Baltimore.

Official league statistics announced in New York today list fullback Jimmy Taylor as the NFL's second leading ground-gainer and running mate Tom Moore fourth.

With Cleveland's Jim my Brown making a runaway in the rushing department with 931 yards in 126 carries, Taylor is second with 391 yards in 100 at-

Colts' Shula Worried Over Lack of Scoring

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Sure we have a chance" to win the Western Division of the National Football League, says coach Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts. "If . . ."

"It's all predicated on getting our offense going."

Lack of a scoring punch has been the big mystery of the Colts. They look great at times with quarterback John Unitas directing the attack, but can't seem to score touchdowns.

Still, they're 3-3 and they way Shula has it figured "an awful lot depends on these next two games." The Colts take on the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears, each 5-1, in succession.

"I wasn't embarrassed coming out of Green Bay three weeks ago and I wasn't embarrassed at Chicago the week after that," Shula recalls.

Led Before Losing

The Colts lost 31-20 at Green Bay, and at Chicago, they led for more than three quarters before losing 10-3.

Looking back to last Sunday, however, Shula is not optimistic about turning the tables on Green Bay and Chicago without more scoring by the offense.

In beating Detroit 25-21, the offense scored only one touchdown and that was after the defense recovered a fumble on the Lion 27. Jim Martin was called upon to kick four field goals, proof says Shula matter of factly that the offense was poor.

"You go for the field goal only when your offense can't make the first down," Shula said.

The Colt offense has scored only nine touchdowns in six games and the defense three.

Reinstatement Sought for Tech's Ted Davis

ATLANTA (AP) — Pressure mounted today on Georgia Tech football Coach Bobby Dodd to re-instate end Ted Davis to the Yellow Jacket squad.

Davis was ejected from last Saturday's Tech-Auburn game for kicking an Auburn halfback David Rawson.

A Tech official reported Tuesday night that the athletic office had received numerous telephone calls and telegrams from persons appealing to Dodd to re-instate Davis. The source said some of the calls and wires were from ministers and many were from Auburn supporters who felt Davis should get another chance.

It was reported that Rawson wrote to Dodd, asking that he permit Davis to rejoin the team. Dodd had no comment.

Jimmy Foxx Hospitalized

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jimmy Foxx, 56, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, was stricken with a heart ailment Tuesday. A spokesman at Faith hospital in St. Louis said today his condition was satisfactory.

Foxx, who compiled a lifetime batting average of .325 over a 20-year span in the major leagues, suffered a mild heart attack in September of 1959.

Denies Taylor Plays Dirty

Lombardi Mince No Words, Says Lemm Is 'Running Off at Mouth'

BY ART DALEY Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — When Wally Lemm moved from the American Football League Houston Oilers to the National Football League St. Louis Cardinals two years ago, he announced to the world that his Houston team could beat the champions of the NFL.

This was most embarrassing to his newest loyaltes—the National League and the Cardinals, and certainly shocked Commissioner Pete Rozelle and the rest of the league.

Since then Lemm, a former coach at Carroll College and Lake Forest, has confined his remarks to Cardinal opponents and nothing really hit the Packers home base until the last couple of days.

Illegal Pick Play

Then, boom, Lemm took off: Sunday night after his team was licked 30-7 by the Packers in St. Louis, Lemm implied that the officials did a poor job (Rozelle was there) and that the Packers used an illegal pick play.

Tuesday in St. Louis, Lemm accused the Pack's Jimmy Taylor of being a dirty football player.

Packer Coach Vince Lombardi minced no words today: "He's an unstable man who is running off at the mouth," Vince exclaimed, adding: "This is the first time in the history of the National Football League that any coach has accused a player of being dirty."

Lemm criticized Taylor for unnecessary kicking and crawling after a tackle. "Taylor is always complaining to the officials because three or four men fall on him and hold him after he is brought down but you have to pin him down and hold him there because he kicks and picks up extra yardage by crawling."

Remark on Crawling

Vince, reacting to the remark on crawling, said "it is untrue I suppose Jim crawled for over 1,000 yards last year."

"There's about as much truth in that as there is in the pick play," How come he didn't say anything about that today. He probably saw the pictures and couldn't find any picking. We found nothing of the sort."

Lemm had claimed that the Packer receivers were illegally pushing (picking) defensive backs in going down for passes Sunday.

Youth Movement Extended Berra May be Named Manager on Thursday

BY JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees' youth movement had extended to the front office today with the naming of Ralph Houk as general manager and the imminent announcement that Yogi Berra would succeed Houk as field leader.

Houk, 44, received his promotion Tuesday. The announcement of the 38-year-old Berra's appointment as the 17th manager in Yankee history is expected to be made at a news conference Thursday.

A Houk-Berra combination would form the youngest front office and field tandem in baseball.

Friday Night's Game: Neenah at Kimberly

Saturday Afternoon's Games: New London at Clintonville, Shawano at Menasha, Kaukauna at Two Rivers.

BY JIM HARP Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Looking in a crystal ball may be an obsolete way of trying to tell what will happen, but it probably would be just as accurate as any other means of trying to figure out the fortunes of the teams in the Mid-Eastern Conference.

With only two rounds of games remaining, no fewer than six teams are still in the thick of the championship battle. If you want to figure mathematically, a seventh, New London, also is in the running.

This weekend's set of games is expected to go a long way in determining who the eventual champion will be. The headliner comes Friday night when the Rockets of Neenah invade the Papermaker field at Kimberly.

Saturday Games

In addition, three Saturday afternoon games are on tap. Shawano will be at Menasha, Kaukauna travels to Two Rivers and New London will be at Clintonville. The Bulldog-Truckee game was originally scheduled as a night game but was moved up to 2 p.m. because of homecoming festivities for the Truckees.

Both Kimberly and Neenah will be seeking to rebound. The Papermakers have dropped two straight after bowing over three league foes and one non-conference opponent early in the season. Losses have come at the hands of rival Kaukauna and underdog Menasha.

Neenah also has had its problems. First the Rockets saw their extended unbeaten chain snapped by a strong Shawano team and then were held to a 7-7 tie by Kaukauna last Saturday.

At Full Strength

Coach Jim Nirschl of Kimberly said the Papermakers are expected to be at full strength for the game with Neenah. About the only injuries suffered against Menasha were some bumps and bruises and a wounded pride which the Papermakers hope to make up for Friday night.

At Neenah, a school official said that "four or five" of the players were hurt in the Kaukauna game but would not play.

Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes have a checkered season and will be trying to rebound from the 32-3 beating they took from Southern California on Saturday.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn takes no comfort at all from the Ohio State-Southern Cal score and thinks the Buckeyes will come to Madison in a fighting mood.

"I wish they'd done a little better out there against Southern Cal," Bruhn said.

Comeback Effort

Although they have won their two Big Ten games, it will be something of a comeback effort for the Badgers, too. Wisconsin's vaunted offense was plagued by penalties and fumbles against Iowa and it took an outstanding defensive effort to bring the Badgers through with a 10-7 victory.

Ohio State beat Texas A&M and Indiana before playing to a 20-20 tie with Illinois and running into disaster in California.

Both Wisconsin and Ohio State last week could have been looking ahead to Saturday.

Bill Synpp, Buckeye sports publicist, said that "it's safe to say we're pointing for Wisconsin because Woody always has regarded conference games as more important than nonconference."

He said Saturday's loss to the Trojans was a humiliating experience for the Buckeyes. "It was the widest margin a Hayes coached team ever has lost by," he said.

Synpp laughed off a suggestion that Ohio State appears to be departing from its established ground game in favor of a passing attack.

"Our passing can not be considered an attack," he said, "it's just passing. We completed 3 out of 17 Saturday and Southern Cal intercepted 4 of them. They did better with our passes than we did."

Bruhn expects Ohio State will stay pretty much on the ground and is setting his defenses accordingly.

AHS Harriers Triumph Over Kimberly

The Appleton High School cross country team defeated Kimberly, 15-49, at Sunset Park, Kimberly Tuesday.

AHS' Dennis Brinkman won the event in 10:21. The Terrors' Jeff Garrett and Terry Krueger ran second and third, respectively. Appleton's Gary Ahrens, Les Bowers, Dick Popp were fifth, sixth and eighth respectively.

Kimberly's Bob Kroner was seventh, Keldeman ninth and Forester 10th. "Sam" Lamers, the Papermakers' No. 1 runner, was unable to compete because of illness.

In the "B" team run, Appleton won, 17-46. The Terrors took the first three places with Steve Kasten (10:48), Dave Lee and Jim Bauman. Kimberly's John DeWit was fourth. AHS' John Bauman, Don Whitney, Chuck Nelson, Doug Wenzel and Gary Schinke took the next five spots. Kimberly's Rooyackers was 10th.

Bragan Helping Push Sale of Season Tickets

Response So Far Has Been Good; Nearly 1,000 Sold

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Most major league managers sure of their jobs now are relaxing from the strain of a baseball campaign. But not Milwaukee's Bobby Bragan.

The Braves field boss has packed away his summer flannels and become a ticket salesman for the club instead of having a little fun in favorite hide-ways in his native Texas.

Bragan is remaining in Milwaukee this winter to help promote the Braves and recruit new fans, especially the kind who can buy season tickets.

The Braves have barely started in their campaign to sell season tickets, but they've sold nearly 1,000 already. Season ticket sales for 1963 dipped to 3,683 as compared with 12,000 in golden years.

"From the response so far, we should have a substantial increase over last year's ticket sales," said publicist Ernie Johnson.

Want Hefty Hike

A "substantial increase" may not be enough. The Braves want a hefty hike—one that will assure them of nearly a million tickets sold before the 1964 season even starts.

Key business and civic leaders have banded in a determined effort to help the Braves and keep the club in Milwaukee. Many persons still shudder when they think how close the city came to losing the team because of poor attendance the past season.

Businessmen went behind closed doors with Braves President and General Manager John McHale last week at the Milwaukee Athletic Club. No announcements were made before or after the meeting, but reliable sources said that McHale put his cards on the table in describing the Braves' position.

According to the sources, the private business leaders agreed to cooperate and stimulate the season ticket sale. Many reportedly agreed to restore their own firms' "quotas," which were either dropped or decreased as attendance dwindled at County Stadium.

GOP Leaders Talk Of 1964 Chances

Discussion Vague as There Are No Admitted Candidates

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders, particularly insiders, are talking a lot about the 1964 chances of their party and its would-be presidential candidates. It's all vague at this point and doesn't add up to much.

And no wonder, since New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, the two most eager candidates, haven't yet formally admitted they are.

Take the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Rep. William E. Miller of New York. He says no Republican candidate has the nomination locked up although Goldwater is ahead at the moment.

Primary Sweep
He adds that if Goldwater sweeps the state primaries "I hardly think the convention could deny him the nomination. You wouldn't have to be an expert or an insider to figure that out."

Tuesday this writer listened for two hours to an extremely well-informed Republican source—who didn't want to be otherwise identified—and the total of all he had to say was pretty much one big if.

He was confident enough about the party's chances to say the one thing that could cost it the election would be a family fight.

GOP Complaints
But then, listing Republican complaints against President Kennedy's handling of domestic and foreign affairs, he conceded his party would be in a "hell of a mess" if the Russians pulled their troops out of Cuba just before the election.

It is always an unpleasant task to write about "informed sources" who don't want to be identified by name. The only reason for writing about this one is that he is in a position to have especially good insights.

TV Speech
The words symbol and vacuum are becoming part of Republicans' political jargon when they talk of Goldwater.

Last Sunday night on television Sen. John G. Tower of Texas spoke of Goldwater as an stock is going up—because ideological symbol "of the opposition to administration programs and policies."

Either the well-informed source mentioned above had listened to Tower or thought of it when Rep. Stanley Tupper, a election, the former vice president himself for he called Goldwater Maine Republican, said "There dent would probably hurt his Rockefeller would go into the Wisconsin or Minnesota primaries because he thinks, both states will try to avoid party hostilities within their borders by picking favorite-son candidates."

He also said Goldwater is full-water is going to be separated on or former President Eisenhower would have much influence in picking next year's nominee.

What about former Vice President Nixon's chances? Some other thoughts from this unnamed source.

He doubted Goldwater or Rockefeller would go into the Wisconsin or Minnesota primaries because he thinks, both states will try to avoid party hostilities within their borders by picking favorite-son candidates.

Nor did this source think Nixon would have much influence in picking next year's nominee.

Reports Claim Milt Plum May Be 'Trade Bait'

Guglielmi Finds Himself in Demand
Due to QB Shortage

BY JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Plum's stock has hit bottom in Detroit where reports say he may be trade bait during the off season. The former Cleveland quarterback has completed only one-third of his passes and leads the league with 12 interceptions. Earl Morrall, the old relief man, has moved out of the bullpen to the No. 1 starting job. Although Morrall's completion percentage isn't much better than Plum's, he has twice as much yardage. The players apparently have more confidence in Earl.

Ralph Guglielmi suddenly finds himself much in demand with quarterbacks at a premium in both the National Football League and the American Football League. Since refusing to report to San Francisco from the Giants, the former Notre Dame star has been doing some TV work in New York. He has changed his unlisted phone number but Vince Lombardi of Green Bay and Vince McNally of Philadelphia know where to look if they want to contact Gog.

When Sonny Jurgensen and King Hill went on "strike" during the exhibition season, the Eagles had a chance to pick up a spare passer. With Jurgensen out and Hill their only quarterback, don't the Eagles wish they had taken advantage of the offer????

The 49ers went to the big back offense against the Bears, not so much to move the ball but to protect Lamar McHan against the rush line. Jack Christiansen used Jim Vollenweider and J. D. Smith as blockers for McHan. . . . Washington fans are "on" Bill McPeak and Norm Nstead because the Redskins are 2-4 instead of 4-2 as they were at this stage last season.

For once it wasn't an ex-Los Angeles Ram doing a job on the Rams. Cliff Livingston, former Minnesota and New York line-backer, knocked the ball out of Fran Tarkenton's hands and Rosey Grier ex-giant recovered on the Vikings' 25. The play led to the first of two field goals by Danny Villanueva that got the Rams even and then won the game. . . . Gary Collins, the Maryland boy who is making a big name for himself as a flanker at Cleveland, isn't listed among the top pass catchers in the statistics but he has nabbed 21 for 330 and seven TDs.

chosen because of "his keen mind, sound baseball theories, ability to get along with people and general popularity."

Houk was given a four-year contract calling for an annual salary of $50,000. Berra, who has been earning from $40,000 to $50,000 a year as a player for the past eight or nine years, is expected to sign a two-year contract for around $45,000.

"I accepted the front office job because it presents a challenge to me," said Houk. "I just hope I can do the job for the next manager as well as Hamer has done for me."

"I figured there's more security in a front office job," Houk said grinning. "It seems to me a lot more field managers get fired than general managers."

Houk said he had no immediate plans for trades and would welcome contract talks with stars Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris. Mickey earned $100,000 this year and Maris $70,000. Both missed many games because of injuries.

"We've got a real good club," Houk said, "but we'll be looking to improve any way we can. However, I don't think we're in a position where we have to make trades. Of course, if somebody offers us what we think is a good deal, we won't turn it down."

The saddest man at the news conference was Hamer, who gave ill health as his reason for retirement.

"I had been thinking of retiring as far back as five years ago," he said. "I made up my mind definitely in July of 1962 after I got out of the hospital."

Pick Duke Star Back of Week

Larry Rakestraw,
Of Georgia, Ranks
Second in Voting

BY MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Duke's Jay Wilkinson was named Back of the Week today by The Associated Press for a brilliant one-minute show that earned this trib- uted from losing Clemson Coach Frank Howard.

"I am damned glad I don't have to look at that Wilkinson any more—he's a great runner," Howard had to look for four periods as Wilkinson, although weakened by a virus and still slowed by a leg injury suffered the previous week, led the Blue Devils to a 35-30 triumph that earned him the Back of the Week designation in a close battle with Georgia passing whiz Larry Rakestraw.

Races 67 Yards
Wilkinson, son of the Oklahoma coach, raced 67 yards for one touchdown, scored a second on a 28-yard pass and set up a third with a 69-yard kickoff return. In all, he rushed for 114 yards in 14 carries and returned two kickoffs 99 yards.

Rakestraw set an NCAA record and three Southeastern Conference records in Georgia's 31-14 victory over Miami of Florida. The Bulldog quarterback amassed an NCAA record of 407 yards in the air as he completed 25 passes.

Also earning nominations were Dick Shiner of Maryland, Don Trull of Baylor, Perry Lee Dunn of Mississippi, Frank Budka of Notre Dame, Paul Martha of Pittsburgh, Robert Schweickert of Virginia Tech, Danny LeBlanc of Louisiana State and Ode Burrell of Mississippi State.

And Bob Berry of Oregon, Craig Morton of California, Tommy Ford and Tony Crosby of Texas, Ron DiGravio of Purdue, Pete Beathard of Southern California, Pete Stamison of Northwestern and Jake Kupp of Washington.

Gridder Has Lower Part of Leg Amputated

CLEVELAND (AP)—Doctors at University Hospital amputated Tuesday night the lower part of a leg of Steve Zacks, senior halfback from Thiel College. Zacks' leg was fractured in a football game against Case Tech Oct. 15.

Zacks, from Patterson, N.J., suffered two fractures of the lower leg. Subsequently, the arteries collapsed, shutting off the blood supply. The blood supply eventually was restored, but muscle damage was beyond repair.

The portion of the leg had to be amputated from a point just above the ankle.

attempts. Brown has tallied 66 points and Michaels 57.

Green Bay's kickoff return twins, Herb Adderley and Earl Gros, are second and fifth, respectively in that department. Adderley has averaged 36.4 yards on nine returns, and Gros 30.9 on seven.

Jerry Norton of the Packers is third in punting with a 45.7 yard average on 20 boots. Teammate Willie Wood is among the leaders in both pass interceptions and punt returns. Wood has picked off four passes to share second place in the interception department, and is fourth in punt returns with an average of 12.6 yards in seven runbacks.

NEW YORK (AP) — There simply is no stopping that Jimmy Brown. In six games, the Cleveland fullback has gained 931 yards on 126 rushes, an average of 7.4 yards per try. With the exception of Green Bay, no other team has gained as much yardage on the ground as Brown all by himself.

Brown's lead over runner-up Jim Taylor of Green Bay is 540 yards (931 to 391), a figure the entire Detroit club has not been able to pick up running.

Despite the runaway rushing statistics, Brown is having a tight battle for the scoring lead. Jimmy has 66 on his 11 touchdowns but Lou Michaels, Pittsburgh's place kicker has 57 points on 15 conversions and 14 field goals.

Bobby Joe Conrad of St. Louis is grabbed seven passes for 114 yards against Green Bay in a losing effort and held first place among the pass receivers with 37 for 483 yards.

Dick Lynch of New York went all the way with a pass interception against Dallas's Don Meredith. It was his second score on a pass interception, tying 25 others for an all time record. The group includes Tom Landry, former Giant defensive back and now coach of Dallas. Lynch took over the league lead with five interceptions.

Jackson Dropped as Agitation, Grumbling Grows in Washington

Redskins Picture In Sharp Contrast To Last Season

BY W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach Bill McPeak released Leroy Jackson, Washington's No. 1 draft choice of 1961, in an effort Tuesday to shake up the Redskins after three straight losses in the National Football League.

Jackson, a Western Illinois College halfback who ran the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds, has seen little action since coming to Washington along with Bobby Mitchell in a 1961 deal with Cleveland. He had been chosen by Cleveland in the first round of the 1961 NFL draft at the direction of the Redskins.

Although Jackson has played little this year he contributed two disastrous fumbles.

One was in the first game against Cleveland on the opening kickoff, and led to a quick Cleveland touchdown.

The second came last Sunday after Pittsburgh had moved ahead 31-27 on a runback of a pass interception. It led to a Steeler touchdown that put the game beyond reach for the Redskins.

Sharp Contrast

Tuesday's shakeup was in sharp contrast to the Washington picture of last year, when the Redskins rolled unbeaten through their first six games.

This season, with a 2-4 record, there is agitation and grumbling—even rumors McPeak may be on his way out as head coach.

McPeak's young quarterback, Norman Snead, has been booed repeatedly. Angry letters appear in local newspapers rapping McPeak, Snead and the Redskins in general.

McPeak was obviously angry at Jackson's boner last Sunday, but said he would wait until he calmed down before he took action. Tuesday he acted, asking waivers on Jackson preliminary to giving him his release.

Highly regarded by Redskins scouts, Jackson has shown only flashes of talent. He has had trouble learning to block and catch passes, both essential for a professional running back.

But the Redskins are still big at the box office. The last two home games have been sellouts. If the weather is good, the crowd may reach sellout proportions again for next Sunday's game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Paying the Price

McPeak, it appears, is paying the price of a little success in a victory-starved town. Even the Collapse of last year, when the Redskins won only one of their last eight games, failed to dim the early season fervor.

McPeak himself whetted this victory fever. First, he signed All-American end Pat Richter as a new pass target for Snead. Then he predicted the Redskins would win the Eastern Division title this year.

Washington fans are not used to winning teams, or even respectable losing teams.

In baseball, the Senators have finished last in the American League the past three seasons and a Washington team hasn't won a pennant since 1933.

Before McPeak took over in 1961, and even during his first season, the Redskins were the NFL doormat. They won only one game in 1960 and again in 1961.

McPeak installed Snead, then a lanky rookie from Wake Forest, as his regular quarterback in 1961 and has kept him there ever since. For the most part, McPeak has ignored criticism when Snead has had his occasional bad days and has stayed with the young quarterback.

Before the 1962 season, McPeak obtained Bobby Mitchell from Cleveland and Mitchell proceeded to lead the league in pass catching. It was the Snead-to-Mitchell combination that led Washington to four wins and two ties in its first six games last year.

The roof fell in a year ago this week as the New York Giants' quarterback, Y. A. Tittle, bombed the leaky Redskin pass defense for seven touchdowns and exposed a weakness McPeak still is trying to patch.

Injuries have crippled McPeak's efforts to repair his pass defense this season and Richter has developed slowly as a tight end, having difficulty adjusting to the blocking duties he never faced in college.

After a one-sided defeat by Cleveland, the Redskins downed Los Angeles and Dallas, then lost a close game to New York. But the fans really began to moan when they blew a 17-point lead against Philadelphia. Then Pittsburgh whipped Washington 38-27 last Sunday, with a pass interception against Snead setting up the touchdown that put the Steelers ahead.

the San Francisco Warriors and Wilt Chamberlain. In the only other game scheduled, the Los Angeles Lakers whipped New York 130-117.

Led by Adrian Smith, who scored 14 points to Chamberlain's 15 in the second period, the Royals shot in front and never were headed. Smith wound up with 19 points, but Oscar Robertson topped Cincinnati with 22. Chamberlain was high for the Warriors with 36.

The Lakers scored 15 straight points late in the first half—nine by Jerry West—and built a 46-45 lead to 65-50 at intermission. The Knicks, now 0-3 never caught up. West scored 21 of his 26 points in the opening half. Rookie Art Heyman was the top scorer for New York with 24.

Ed Flood Hits 634 Series in Major League

Agnes Fuhs Tops Women Keglers With 514 Set

Ken Falk smacked a 238 game, and Ed Flood continued his hot streak by posting a 634 series to lead the Major League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday night.

Falk finished with a 588 series and Flood had a 234 game to go with his high set. Flood has won two Sunday's in succession on the Northeastern Wisconsin Championship bowling's television show, averaging exactly 200 for six games.

Hahn's (16½-4½) leads the league with Reetz Brothers second, 3½ games away.

Sanders Hits 615

Frank Sanders, Jr., led the way in the Appleton Coated Paper League at Hahn's Tuesday night with a 234 singleton and 615 series.

The Hawkeyes (16-5) held the league lead with the Hoosiers second, four games behind. Other honor scores included Max Eggert, 582; Tom Sullivan, 571; Mel Griesbach, 564; Ed Isaacson, 227-554; Junior Burhandt, 552 and Mai Koehn, 554.

Agnes Fuhs rolled a 202 game and 514 series to lead the Ten Pin Toilers League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday.

Merkes Electric (17-7) has a one game lead over the Carpet Shop. Dottie Davis had a 192 game and Deanne Bauman had a 197 count for the only other honor scores.

Beverly Kehl slammed a 202 game and Lorraine Ankerson rolled a 507 series to share honors in the Tag-a-Long League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday. Beverly finished with a 505 series.

United Paper (14½-6½) leads the league and the only other honor scores were games of 192 by Toby Hoffman and Adeline Schuh.

Roosevelt and Wilson Battle

FOX VALLEY FRESHMAN LEAGUE

Roosevelt 4 0 Madison 1 3
Neenah 4 1 Wilson 1 3
Kaukauna 3 1 Menasha 0 4
Kimberly 2 3

Thursday's Games: Roosevelt at Wilson, Menasha at Kaukauna, Madison at Kimberly.

Roosevelt will throw its forces at Wilson Thursday afternoon in an attempt to clinch at least a share of the Fox Valley Freshman League championship.

Coach Merlin "Smiley" Feind's squad needs to get by intra-city rival Wilson and Neenah to gain the undisputed title. Menasha will be at Kaukauna and Madison travels to Kimberly in other Thursday games. Neenah will be standing by to claim a share of the lead should Roosevelt falter.

If the latter occurs, it would set up a possible championship game on the Roosevelt turf a week from Thursday. Both Roosevelt and Neenah would then have 4-1 records. Kaukauna would have the same mark if it scores a victory over Menasha this week.

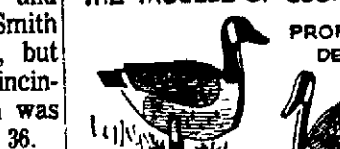

Kimberly and Madison are both out of the title picture but a victory could put the winner in position to gain an even split in the 1963 schedule with victories next week.

First Hearing in State History

Unsuccessful Applicant for Chief Warden's Post Appeals to Board

MADISON — A hearing considered prejudicial to the hearing by William Duffy, Green Bay.

Six persons instead of the usual five will sit on the personnel board and vote, according to Wetengel. Gov. John Reynolds named Mrs. Pauline Coggs, Milwaukee, a sister-in-law of Democrat assemblyman Isaac Coggs, to succeed Charles Brecher, Janesville, whose term expired in July.

Since Mrs. Coggs lacks senate confirmation, Brecher has held his seat. In order to avoid protests, both Mrs. Coggs and Brecher will take part in the hearing, Wetengel said.

Wetengel said if Behgin wins the appeal it seems a certainty on the part of the bureau that the matter would be taken into court. Behgin's attorney indicated earlier that they would also go to court if the board upholds the procedures which Behgin is protesting.

Fifth in Exam Behgin ranked fifth in examination for chief warden. Walter Zelinski, present acting chief warden, Harold Hettrick, administration assistant, Edward Thompson, special investigator, and William Rollman, assistant supervisor, were rated above Behgin in that order.

Wetengel said it was extremely doubtful should Behgin's appeal be upheld that there would be a rash of claims from others that they had been unfairly rated in the past. "If the court should decide against our use of the promotional potential in rating these candidates, we'd have to revise our procedure, but it wouldn't be a retroactive thing," Wetengel said.

In the B team running, Hortonville scored a 20-35 victory.

The top five runners for the Polar Bears were Al Meyer, Roger Ellenbecker, Gary Delmer, Leroy Holtz and Charles Brenneke. Meyer led the way covering the 2.2 miles course in 12 minutes 20 seconds. Dale Johnson was Denmark's top finisher.

The win was Hortonville's seventh against two losses in competition. The next meet will be against Clintonville Thursday.

they're going to do," said Bruhn, "but they do it so well it's hard to stop them."

Ohio State may not have full-back Matt Snell in the lineup Saturday, but sophomore Willard Sander has shown he can handle the job.

Snell has returned to practice, but Snypp said a rib separation probably will keep him out of action against Wisconsin.

Sander is a 6-2, 210 pounder. Assistant Coach Fred Marsh of Wisconsin who scouted the Buckeyes, described Sander as a "typical Ohio State fullback—one who likes to pound people."

The game at Camp Randall Stadium is a sellout and 63,435 persons are expected to be on hand for the 1:30 kickoff.

MADISON (AP)—Sophomore guard Bob Pickens, who aggravated an ankle injury in Wisconsin's 10-7 victory over Iowa last week, rejoined the squad Tuesday as the Badgers launched preparations for Saturday's Big Ten football meeting with Ohio State.

Pickens and veteran safetyman Ron Frain, who missed the Iowa game because of a bruised shoulder, worked out as the Badgers spent much of a practice session drilling against Ohio State offenses and defenses.

U. S. Duo Favored For Canada Cup

Palmer, Nicklaus Go Against Best of 33 Nations at Paris

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

PARIS, (AP)—It's America's Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus against the field Thursday when top golfers of 33 nations tee off at one of Louis XIV's old cow pastures for the 11th annual Canada Cup and International Trophy golf matches.

"I just don't see how anyone can beat Arnie and Jack on this course," said left-hander Bob Charles of New Zealand, the Saturday British Open champion, today at Las Vegas, played nine holes "There's no penalty for a wild shot. They can just stand up there and crank it."

Gary Player of South Africa team prize with Sam Snead in 1960 and 1962 but missed both times Cerda of Mexico.

"It seems just a question of which one, Palmer or Nicklaus, wins the individual title," put in Al Balding of Canada. "They've proven they're the best—who's going to beat them?"

Heavy Odds Thus the odds swung heavily in favor of Palmer, all-time leading money winner, and Nicklaus, at 23 already a winner of the U.S. Masters, Open and PGA crowns, in the annual international competition among hand-picked two-man teams from all parts of the world.

The four-day, 72-hole tournament opens at 3 a.m. EST. Thursday over the 6,834-yard, par 72, Saint-Nom-la-Breche course, which only recently was carved out of grazing grounds and potato patches of Louis XIV's farm yards near Versailles.

Thrown together as partners for the first time but still keen rivals for world golf honors, Palmer and Nicklaus are aware of their rather unusual situation.

"Certainly, I'd like to win the individual title," said Palmer, "but my first consideration is for the team. Jack and I will help each other all we can with the idea of winning for the United States."

Nicklaus said: "It's great having Arnie as a partner—a big pair of shoulders to lean on if I'm going badly. But it would be ridiculous for me to say that I am not interested in winning the individual title. It means a lot to me. I want to win them all."

Practice Round Palmer played a full 18 holes of practice over the course Tuesday—his first look at it—and shot 33-34-67. Par is 36-36-72.

"It's like any young course in America," he said. "The fairways are high and the greens are small, but the course is well-conditioned."

He said a shot of cortisone had erased the bursitis pain in his right shoulder and he felt "like new again."

Nicklaus, who said he hadn't had a good night's sleep since the Saturday, the day before he won the British Open, played nine holes "There's no penalty for a wild shot. They can just stand up there and crank it."

for Palmer, who shared the team prize with Sam Snead in 1960 and 1962 but missed both times Cerda of Mexico.

Buffalo County Objects to Use Of Deer Rifles

Resolution OKs Printing of Signs For Landowners

ALMA (AP) — The Buffalo County Board feels so strongly about hunting spike bucks with rifles that it plans to help landowners keep deer hunters so armed off their premises.

The board passed a resolution Tuesday objecting to the Conservation Commission order which permits hunting of spikebucks with rifles in the county during the deer season Nov. 25-31.

It also authorized its agriculture committee to have 3,000 signs printed with the words "No trespass with deer rifle."

The signs will be distributed to landowners. It is estimated that in this manner, about 80 per cent of the deer land in the county will be posted against hunting with rifles.

The board contends that the rifle hunting will endanger humans and livestock. It has no objection to hunting with shotguns which do not carry as far as rifles.

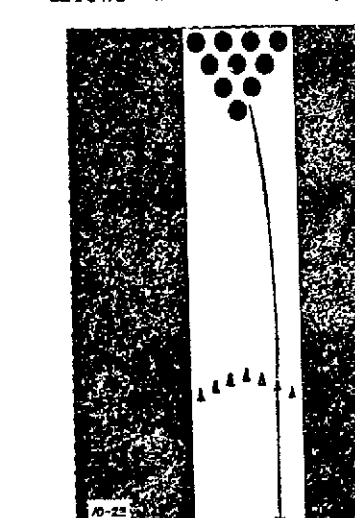

Shooting of deer of either sex will be allowed Nov. 23 and Nov. 24 in about a dozen counties, including Buffalo. The board did not comment on this special season. The regular season for spike buck shooting is Nov. 25-Dec. 1 in most of the state.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

Line Bowling

Line bowling is a combination of spot and pin bowling. The bowler first picks out a spot at the foul line, then one of the arrows down the alley and finally the 1-3 pocket (on a first ball, at any rate). Then as he moves toward the foul line he shifts his attention from one spot to its successor. Use whatever system feels natural to you—then stick to it.

Royals Win As Defense Shines Again

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What's this? Defense in the National Basketball Association?

That's right—and the Cincinnati Royals are using a stingy defense to roll up a winning record.

The Royals brought their record to 3-1 Tuesday night by holding the opposition under 100 points for the fourth consecutive game in a 103-97 victory over the San Francisco Warriors and Wilt Chamberlain. In the only other game scheduled, the Los Angeles Lakers whipped New York 130-117.

Led by Adrian Smith, who scored 14 points to Chamberlain's 15 in the second period, the Royals shot in front and never were headed. Smith wound up with 19 points, but Oscar Robertson topped Cincinnati with 22. Chamberlain was high for the Warriors with 36.

The Lakers scored 15 straight points late in the first half—nine by Jerry West—and built a 46-45 lead to 65-50 at intermission. The Knicks, now 0-3 never caught up. West scored 21 of his 26 points in the opening half. Rookie Art Heyman was the top scorer for New York with 24.

Statistics Show 1 of 5 Families Have Cars

BY SYLVIA PORTER

There's a family of four on the West Coast headed by a 41-year-old electrical contractor with a high school education and an income in the $15,000-plus category. His wife is 34, his two sons are under 12. They are Dodge fans, read several newspapers and popular magazines, listen to radio mostly when they are in an automobile.

Porter

So far, they don't sound at all unusual but they are out of the ordinary indeed. They own 10 cars.

To Buy Another

What's more, the head of the household told Sindlinger's Economic Service in an interview that he plans to buy a new car in the next 14 years, this will be a new car in every family garage this fall. Since he does not intend to trade in, this will raise his ownership to 11 cars—ranging from a 1908 Packard and a 1911 Overland to a shining new 1964.

The time never will come when this auto-mad family is typical in our country but we're well into the era of two or more cars propping up the entire economy. In every garage.

In fact, the normally conservative Chase Manhattan Bank of New York declares, "The wide-spread desire for more than one car has created what amounts to a booming new industry" and because of this, U.S. automakers are facing "an important and expanding market for many years ahead."

The growing dimensions of the multiple car market are startling even to the trade and surely will astound an outsider.

Big Jump

Just since 1949, the number of families owning more than one car has jumped from 1.5 million to 12 million—meaning one of every five families now is a multiple car owner.

While our personal incomes have risen 1½ times in this period and suburban population has about doubled, the rise in multiple car ownership has been an enormous 7-fold.

A full 12 per cent of families owning one car today plan to enter the two-car class in the next 24 months, a new survey by Michigan University's Survey Research Center indicates. If the ownership since 1949 is duplicated in the next 14 years, this will be a new car in every family garage this fall.

Great Importance

The importance of the accelerated shift to multiple car ownership will help make 1964 a 7 million-plus car sales year for the third year in a row and this in turn will be a vital factor in the era of two or more cars propping up the entire economy. The auto industry alone provides, directly or indirectly, one-seventh of the jobs in our country, gobbles up billions of dollars of basic materials and services and in keeping the economic advance which began in early 1961 still alive in late 1963.

Obviously propelling the multiple car ownership trend are the upsurge in personal incomes, the availability of consumer loans, the relative stability of automobile prices. Personal incomes are running at an annual rate of over $46 billion, $21 billion above a year ago. Our buying power has been supported by an ample supply of instalment credit and the auto industry has held the price line.

Transportation Slump

Obviously, forces also are at work in the use of public transportation. The share of our transportation dollar going to public high choice and prime 1,350-1,450 lbs 23.00-24.00; choice 900-1,300 lbs 23.50-24.25; few loads mostly high choice and prime 1,850-1,670 lbs 21.75-22.00; good 900-1,250 lbs 22.00-23.00; several loads high choice and prime 900-1,050 lb slaughter heifers 8.50-23.75; bulk choice 800-1,100 lbs 22.50-23.25; good 21.25-22.00; utility and commercial cows 14.00-15.50.

Not so obvious factors are the emergence of the suburban housewife and the young driver as additional automobile buyers who consider a second or third car not just a desirable possession but a necessity. In suburban areas across the country, housewives are demanding a car of their own to get to the shopping center or bank, to attend meetings or chauffeur the kids. As for the young driver, the 15-24 age category is increasing by about 6 per cent a year now against 3 per cent at the start of this decade. One-third of plans to buy used cars today involve youngsters and by their support of the used car market, they are spawning new car sales.

The 7 million a year car market is about to become commonplace in the U. S. and so is the two-car family. As long as we maintain a generally prosperous economy, our romance with the automobile will continue to blaze.

Stock Market Trading Heavy

Steels Apparently Have Weathered 'Scare Selling'

NEW YORK (AP)—A moderate recovery by steels highlighted a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The list advanced irregularly in early trading but backed away from some of its gains, leaving an uneven pattern.

The steels appeared to have weathered the "scare selling" of Tuesday over news of a federal grand jury investigation of steel pricing. The group rebounded unanimously but as the session continued some gains were trimmed.

Motors Weak

Weakness developed in motors after a promising start, and there was a general trimming of prices throughout the list.

Tobacco remained generally higher. Airlines were down slightly as a group.

Among the "glamour" issues there were some contrary movements.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 6 at 280 6 with industrials up 8, rails up 4 and utilities up 3.

Dow Jones Up

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .73 at 747.94.

HEARING A CALL TO THE CLOTH IS NO BLANKET INVITATION TO PREACH

DEAR CY:

After thinking I was cut out to be a skilled workman, I finally found out why I was put on this earth. I was sent here to be a preacher of God's word. Are there any educational requirements for a man who has the call to the cloth? Is there a need for Protestant ministers?

R. N. GARD

DEAR MR. GARD: Despite 215,000 clergymen serving Protestant communities, there is a shortage of sky pilots. Rural areas suffer the most. There are over 80 schools accredited by the American Association of Theological Schools. Some denominations insist a three year course be completed at one of them, at a Bible college or at a Bible institution. Although practically anyone can talk his way into this profession, success demands training and skill. as in anything else.

DEAR CY:

Joseph, our only son, can't hold a steady job, although he's a hard worker. This has been going on for two years since college and the air force. After three months or so at a job, he loses interest. His main hobby has been studying health and body building. He reads widely on the subject and likes weight lifting and trampoline. Can you suggest a way to put his talents into the right career? No aptitude tests. We want your opinion, not a lot of mumbo jumbo.

MRS. J. M.

DEAR MRS. J.M.:

Aptitude tests are not psycho-voodoo. Joe should take them through either an independent testing firm or the United States Employment office.

Lacking their findings, I'd say he might be energized by becoming a physical therapist. Currently 80 per cent of the estimated 9,000 physical therapists are women, but the number of men entering the field is increasing rapidly. There are 42 schools approved by the American Medical Association and American Physical Therapy Assn., 1790 Broadway, New York for teaching this profession. The majority are affiliated with universities. Most courses last from a year to 16 months for college graduates whose undergraduate studies qualify them. Many scholarships are available. If Joe is emotionally stable, likes working with people, and has manual dexterity, this could be it. He could receive a tremendous amount of satisfaction from becoming skilled enough to physically rehabilitate adults and youngsters.

CY

DEAR CY:

For over a month, I have been telling friends I am looking for part-time employment. I have also called on employment agencies who tell me, "We have nothing part-time."

2 Persons Die in Auto Accidents

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a Washburn County woman and a Minnesota man as a result of separate accidents raised Wisconsin's 1963 traffic toll to 711 today compared with 757 a year ago.

Herbert Post, 32, of St. Paul, Minn., died Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Marshfield of injuries suffered in an accident Oct. 16. Post was riding in a car that missed a curve and struck a utility pole three miles west of Marshfield. Post and the driver, L. L. Haasie, 37, of St. Paul, Minn., lay in a wrecked car for five hours before a passing motorist discovered them.

Haasie was released from the hospital a day after the crash. Mrs. Vera Smith, 69, of rural Stone Lake, was killed Tuesday when two cars collided on Highway 53 between Haugen and Sarona in Barron County. Mrs. Smith's husband, John, 69, was injured seriously.

Survivors include his widow, a son, a daughter, three brothers, and three sisters.

wrote you, I can't work outside my home eight hours a day. What is there left for me to do in order to get work?

DEAR SHEILA:

To Mother of Three I suggest (among other things) running classified ads to herald her availability. Since you evidently dismissed this point as hogwash, hear these words of Joseph D. Cooper, author of the new book, "A Woman's Guide to Part-Time Jobs" (Doubleday $4.50). He states "An advantage of inserting your own classified ad in a newspaper is that you take your self out of simultaneous competition with others. State the kind of job first and then follow with the words 'part-time.' Be explicit as to the hours or days you can work. You can give your telephone number or, if you prefer, you can list a newspaper box number. Sometimes a telephone number brings a more ready response."

Sturgeon Bay Youth Guilty of Shining Deer

Dale Foth, 18, Jailed, Fined $200 For Offense

CHILTON — A Manitowoc County Judge Tuesday confiscated a car, two rifles and a light and jailed and fined a youth caught shining deer east of here last week.

Dale Foth, 18, route 5, Sturgeon Bay, pleaded guilty of possession of two firearms and an artificial light for the purpose of hunting deer from a car when he appeared before Judge Harry Stone Lake, who is in County Court.

The charge was brought against Foth by Calu Smith's husband, John, 69, was injured seriously.

Foth was sentenced to 30 days in county jail and fined $200. An additional 60 day jail term was ordered in lieu of the fine which has not yet been paid.

Judge Mueller also ordered confiscated the 1957 model car the youth was driving, two .22 caliber rifles and the light. Foth, a Manitowoc County sawmill laborer, did not own the vehicle. He had borrowed it from his employer.

Foth confessed his part in a nighttime chase last week. The Warden had spotted the youth and a companion shining deer south of Reister's Corners. He had to drive for the ditch to avoid being run down by the pair when he attempted to set up a road block, Reichenbach said.

Foth and his companion abandoned the car and fled into a dense swamp. Investigation to bring charges against Foth's companion are continuing, Reichenbach said.

Mr. Glenn H. Arthur
Director of Sales
Appleton Post-Crescent
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Arthur:

I'm sure that you are aware that the furniture business is highly competitive; that when the possibility exists to increase the volume of sales on a reasonable and practical advertising budget, serious consideration is well-nigh mandatory.

Such a possibility was offered to us through the suggestions of your sales representative, Wilmer Krueger, and Jenkins Furniture made the decision in the first month of 1963 to increase use of newspaper advertising. The increase was substantial - amounting to 36% - and, budget-wise, almost demanded that we thus concentrate our advertising in the Post-Crescent almost exclusively.

The results of this decision have been most gratifying. Jenkins Furniture has experienced a substantial increase in sales. We know that it is not mere coincidence that sales gains have been consistent over the first nine months of this year with, as a matter of fact, a minimum increase of fifteen per cent.

I thought you would be interested in knowing our reaction and that we intend to keep playing "the winning game" confident of a star team mate in Post-Crescent advertising.

Very truly yours,

"What Jenkins Promises, Jenkins Does"

We, of course, love getting letters from our advertisers who are convinced that newspaper advertising pays. Yet, we're glad, in a way, that not ALL of our advertisers who, we know, have learned the selling impact of our medium write to us . . . else we'd be swamped with mail.

Our advertising representatives, like Wilmer Krueger, who serves the above account, though, take almost a smug pride in having their efforts backed by such positive results as expressed in the letter shown. We try to keep them humble . . . but . . . who can blame them?

Maybe you'd like a little of this smugness to rub off on you? Just call us for a sales representative to call on you. Being "convinced" (at the cash register) is a wonderful feeling!

Yugoslavs and Police Official In Verbal Clash

Exchange Heated Statements After Dinner Cancellation

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yugoslav mission to the United Nations and Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy have exchanged heated statements after the mission canceled a public reception in honor of President Tito and his wife.

A notice from the mission to the invited guests said the reason for the cancellation "is the failure of the competent authorities of the City of New York to take measures in connection with the celebration." The reception had been scheduled for Thursday night.

"This is sheer, unadulterated nonsense," snapped Murphy Tuesday night.

Over 1,000 invited

"I am skeptical of the reasons for canceling the dinner. The invitations — and there were more than 1,000 of them — were sent by the Yugoslavs, and if they can't check on who they are inviting, it's pretty bad management."

Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said today the Yugoslav government has made no formal protest about security arrangements.

Adequate Protection

Stevenson added, in an informal street interview, that Tito apparently was not disturbed by the situation surrounding the cancellation.

Murphy said Tito has been receiving "the same kind of coverage as any head of state, plus additional coverage because he is a controversial figure."

Police Tuesday strengthened their heavy guard on Tito and his entourage as foes of his Communist regime continued demonstrations and insults.

Jay Rutherford, assistant to the chief of protocol of the U.S. State Department, told newsmen city police and federal security forces would continue to provide "maximum security" during Tito's visit.

African Heads Major Church For First Time

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—A 60-year-old African clergyman, the Rev. Seth Mokitimi, is the first African to be chosen leader of a major church in South Africa.

He was elected president of the country's 1,364,000-member Methodist Church Tuesday by a large majority at the church's annual conference. He started life as a herdsman in neighboring Basutoland.

The Methodist Church in South Africa is second in membership only to the Dutch Reformed Church.

Load Increases At Madison Mental Facility

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Population of the Central Wisconsin Colony and Training school near Madison, latest addition to the state facilities for the treatment and custody of mentally retarded children, is gradually increasing.

A report to the state board of welfare today shows population approaching 500 at the new hospital created several years ago to relieve the pressure upon older institutions at Union Grove in Racine county and Chippewa Falls in northwestern Wisconsin.

As in other institutions there is an increase in the ratio of male patients which the hospital said follows the historical pattern of such programs.

The new facility was planned for an emphasis upon medical services and research and experimentation in mental retardation.

Supt. Harvey Stevens disclosed that nine separate research programs have been begun, most of them in collaboration with specialists of the University of Wisconsin Medical school and other university divisions.

Plans call for continued expansion of behavioral science projects, Stevens said, together with enlargement of biological research studies after additional laboratory equipment and staffs are acquired.

The next year will probably see the development of the institution, in staff and patient load, to the capacity planned

Chief Blames Bankers For Bouncing Checks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—More checks are bouncing higher than ever a police chief said Tuesday, and, what's more, the bankers are to blame.

Chief Edward M. Tothman of neighboring Oakland told his fellow chiefs meeting with the convention of the League of California Cities that bum check passers are bouncing all over the landscape because the bankers give accounts to almost anyone.

when the legislature authorized the new facility several years ago, the welfare board was told. A small beginning has been made in a family care program involving the release of patients for care, with supervision, in the homes of private families.

America's Path Forward, Says Rockefeller

Advocates Detour Of Goldwater and Kennedy Extremes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says "the forward road" is America's path to progress and it doesn't detour through "extreme philosophies."

In a speech at Salt Lake City Tuesday night, the New York governor said President Kennedy and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona are at the political extremes; Kennedy because he favors an "all-powerful federal government dominating our lives," and Goldwater because he is "committed to withdraw from free world leadership and roll back the clock on social gains and human progress."

"I have always tried to follow that forward road," Rockefeller said earlier at a news conference.

Chief Contenders Rockefeller and Goldwater

Rockefeller and Goldwater are the chief contenders for the Republican nomination to run against Kennedy in next year's presidential election, although neither man has formally announced as a candidate.

In his speech to a crowd of 1,300 at the University of Utah, Rockefeller said, "America is at the crossroads."

"The big question is: which way shall we go?"

"We should find the solution to our problems through actions, true to our heritage—actions based upon our fundamental principles, not political expediency."

"The forward road takes courage and faith in our fundamental American beliefs—the federal-state system of shared sovereignty, government closest to the people, fiscal integrity, equal opportunity and the dignity and worth of free men."

Rockefeller, who is making a three-city swing through the West, flew to San Francisco Tuesday night. Next stop is Los Angeles, then back to New York.

State Traffic Deaths Down 50 From Last Year For Same Period

Traffic deaths are down by 7 per cent from last year in Wisconsin, the motor vehicle department reported today.

Commissioner James Karns said 646 lives had been taken in mishaps on streets and highways in the first nine months of this year, compared with 696 last year.

A breakdown of figures showed 512 were killed in rural accidents, while 134 met death on city streets. One-car accidents accounted for 228 fatalities in the rural category.

Pedestrians accounted for 96 of the deaths up to Oct. 1 this year, exactly the same number as killed on foot in the corresponding period last year.

Florence County was the only county starting the final quarter of 1963 without a traffic death within its borders. Last year at the same time a similar boast was made by Iron, Pepin and Rusk counties.

The motor vehicle department estimated that in the first three quarters of 1963 motorists had traveled more than 12 billion, 349 vehicle-miles on Wisconsin roadways.

Quintuplet Home In Secret Location

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—When the Fischer quintuplets are sent home from the hospital they'll go to a house with a big nursery in the northwest part of town.

The location is still secret, but it was announced Tuesday that the temporary quarters will be used by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer and their 10 children until a new $100,000 house given them by the city is completed.

The babies continue to do well in St. Luke's Hospital, where only the smallest, Mary Ann, remains in an Isolette.

Implement Dealer Robbed of $2,000

ATHENS (AP)—Two men visited the Miller Implement Co. here Monday "to look around."

They returned Tuesday, tied proprietor Lawrence Miller, 38, to a chair, took $2,000 and fled.

Nearly Half Absent, Most From Largely Negro Areas

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly half of Chicago's approximately 470,000 public school pupils were absent from classes Tuesday, most of them staying away in what Negro civil rights leaders claimed was the nation's largest school boycott.

The massive civil rights boycott was in protest against what leaders called the "growing school segregation in Chicago."

Senate Group Seeks Overhaul Of Foreign Aid

Tells Administration To Act or Congress May Take Over

BY EARNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has advised the administration to overhaul its foreign aid program next year or face the possibility of Congress doing it.

The committee — the program's best friend on Capitol Hill — turned out to be one of its severest critics in a report recommending passage of a $4,202,365,000 foreign aid authorization bill. The Senate starts debate on the bill Monday.

Rejects Amendment
The report revealed that the committee seriously considered — but rejected — an amendment that would have terminated the aid program June 30, 1965, to force sweeping changes in its operations.

"The committee refrained from adopting this amendment in the expectation, which it hopes will not prove unjustified, that the administration will submit a fiscal year 1965 program to Congress which has been revamped in major respects," the report said.

For the fiscal year, starting next July 1, the committee specifically recommended the Agency for International Development curtail its program to eliminate from aid "countries which can take care of themselves." It said "even more selectivity among countries should be introduced."

U. S. Probing Attack on Ship Off Cuban Coast

Havana Radio Says Vessel Strafed but Doesn't Give Reason

BY BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has launched an investigation of the strafing of an American-owned ship off the coast of Cuba early Tuesday morning.

There is no doubt the strafing was carried out by Cuban planes. Although it did not identify the ship, Havana radio said its air force attacked a vessel in the area.

The big question is why.

Havana claimed the ship was carrying saboteurs and arms. However, it was learned elsewhere that the vessel, the bulk carrier J. Louis, was steaming from Ocho Rios, Jamaica, to Corpus Christi, Tex., with 31,500 tons of bauxite ore, the raw material for aluminum.

Possible Explanation

The answer may be in an account given the New York Times by what the paper referred to as highly placed informants.

According to this version, the J. Louis was attacked when she accidentally sailed into the thick of a fight between Cuban coast defenses and a raiding party of Cuban exiles. Possibly four or five MIGs strafed the vessel because their Cuban pilots "in the heat of action" believed she was involved in an anti-Castro landing operation.

No Casualties Reported

The owners of the vessel reported no casualties during the hour-long attack. Flares were dropped to light up the target. Shells damaged the superstructure and hull and set up a fire in the forecabin of the 33,000-ton vessel.

More may be known when the J. Louis, with its crew of about 50, arrives late tonight at Corpus Christi.

Liberian Registry

The incident jarred the quiet of Tuesday's first anniversary of last fall's Cuban crisis. The State Department deplored "this unprovoked attack on a vessel navigating the high seas" and said it was investigating to see whether a U.S. protest would be made.

Registered under the Liberian flag, the ship was turned to Page 7, Col. 1

Time Table For Big Lift Will be Met

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The big American airlift of the 2nd Armored Division from Texas to Germany neared the end of its first 24 hours today with all goals met, senior officers announced.

By 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EST), 60 transports had landed with 3,588 troops, about one-fourth of the total involved.

The airlift overcame some foggy weather this morning by diverting five flights, but the Army said this did not interfere with the schedule.

As the weather brightened later, the steady stream of transports stepped up in pace.

At the same time, troops were taking over the tanks and other heavy weapons awaiting them. None of this was supposed to happen until Thursday, but five per cent of the job had been handled by noon.

Bonn Minister Watches

West German Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel went to the Rhein-Main Air Base to speak with American officers and obtain a private briefing on how Exercise Big Lift was going.

He told newsmen Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had convinced him that Big Lift is not intended to demonstrate that American forces in Europe could or would be reduced. This possibility has been of some burning concern to the West Germans.

The early success of the lift prompted some officers to estimate that the 72-hour goal for landing all planes would be achieved in possibly 63 hours.

Rhein-Main Air Base, receiving most of the transatlantic air armada, was closed for seven hours. But at noon a bright sun broke through, and moments later a C135 Stratolifter landed.

Four transports had to be re-routed to Ramstein Air Base, 60 miles southwest of Frankfurt, and one C130 with 73 soldiers landed at Mildenhall, England, refueling stop for the propeller-driven craft in the Texas-Europe air bridge.

Faculty, Ex-Presidents Comment

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Lawrence College's Main Hall bell rang at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday, as it has for moments of institutional celebration since the building became the center of the campus in 1853.

The news announced by the bell, and which had just been verbally announced to the student body by President Curtis about seven weeks on the campus. W. Tarr, was that in September, 1963, "This is just about the biggest news ever to happen at Lawrence." Tarr replied with a modest smile, "Well, since I've been here, anyway."

Wriston's Comments
Voices from beyond the campus mirrored the excitement. Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University, said he had been Lawrence president from 1925 to 1937, then chairman of the American Assembly, called from New York City to say "I am very enthusiastic about the consolidation of Lawrence and Milwaukee - Downer College."

Lawrence Gets His Wish
It was a long time for Amos A. Lawrence to wait to get his wish. When he founded Lawrence College 116 years ago, he was known to have murky thoughts on the subject of coeducation. It is reported that when he came to address his college—the only time he saw it—he talked only to the boys in the audience. Now, in the reorganized Lawrence College would be a college for men.

The Lawrence faculty got the news of the consolidation an industry. Judge John F. S. McGohey in fact be a college for men. The Lawrence faculty got the news of the consolidation an industry. Judge John F. S. McGohey in fact be a college for men.

Grand Jury Picked For Steel Inquiry
NEW YORK (AP)—A federal grand jury was sworn in today at the request of the Justice Department's Antitrust Division for a probe involving the steel industry.

The victims included the principal of the school, police said. Teachers and parents of the children also were on board the ferry. It was the second ferryboat disaster this year in South Korea. On Jan. 19, 119 persons of a coastal ferry has been a constant critic of the south-Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, calling for more farm say-so at farmer levels instead of from Washington.

Incomplete returns from 915 of 1,075 precincts in Tuesday's special election gave Andrews 43,559 votes, Hove 38,690, conservative Republican John Scott 5,512 and independent Thomas Dewey 331.

U. S. Reported Set to Sell Hungary Corn

Soviets, Americans Confer On Possible Sale of Wheat

BY OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet wheat buyers confer today with administration officials as reports circulate that the United States is ready to approve sale of 40,000 tons of corn to Hungary. If the corn sale rumors are true, the deal would be the first to be closed with an Iron Curtain country since President Kennedy approved sale of subsidized farm products—particularly wheat—to the Soviet bloc two weeks ago.

The wheat sales, the chief item in Soviet-American bargaining, have been held up by haggling over the costs of shipping the grain on American vessels.

Problem of Ships
Trade and government circles speculated that both the United States and the Soviet bloc got out on a limb by stipulating that the wheat should be shipped on U.S. ships when they were available.

The President laid down the requirement when he approved the sales, and it appeared to be accepted by the Communist countries.

Since then they have objected, citing higher costs of American shipping—about 20 to 30 cents a bushel higher than foreign shipping.

Other Grains Not Affected
This matter figures to be part of the table talk when the Soviet trade negotiators lunch with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

The Russian group is headed by Sergei A. Borisov, first deputy minister of foreign trade.

Forecasters Chart Storm

Hurricane Ginny Moving Slowly Toward Florida's Eastern Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Wrong-loop and swing to the south and possible along the middle east coast of Florida tonight.

After dawdling for three days off the Eastern Seaboard as far north as Cape Hatteras, Ginny started on a beeline Tuesday aimed at the lower Florida Coast.

The Red Cross deployed 85 of its disaster workers in cities above normal were expected to be hit by the hurricane. Even if it comes ashore, tides and winds will, for a hurricane, be minimal.

May Change Course
Hurricane hunter aircraft shuttled in and out of the storm, relaying a continuous flow of information to teams of forecasters.

Near midmorning, Ginny, with peak winds of 80 miles per hour near her center, was located about 180 miles east-northeast of Cape Canaveral. The storm was blustering southwestward at 10 m.p.h.

"At least some possibility still exists that it could perform a feet higher than normal were the fog."

Forecasters said tides five was escorting the Chilula and the fog."

A Little Girl, Bewildered over whether she should go to Guggenheim Elementary School on Chicago's south side, or return home, cries as she stands against a fence near the school. Nearly half of the pupils enrolled stayed away from school today. (AP Wirephoto)

Cancellor Erhard's Aim

The new chancellor of West Germany, Ludwig Erhard, was obviously trying to hit a middle of the road policy on a number of issues in his first major speech after succeeding Conrad Adenauer as his country's leader. Of the greatest importance, if not for the present then for the future, were his remarks about the United States and France.

While "all problems of European policy center on the relations between the German and French people," Erhard stressed that "no individual state belonging to the alliance can protect itself in isolation." Moreover, he said that "anyone considering it a European task that in the present world-wide conflict our Continent should be lent greater weight and should be given the position it deserves, can only support a policy, both political and economic, that aims at uniting all the free nations of Europe." Without mentioning either the Common Market or the independent nuclear striking force which France is trying to build, Erhard was indicating his disapproval of French policies.

Mr. Keliher's Career

Considered from any perspective, the effort of Gov. Reynolds and his aides to dismiss the head of the state auditing department after a lifetime of honorable, useful and distinguished work in the state civil service will appear to be a cruel deed.

Mr. Reynolds says he wants a test of his powers, as the chosen executive of Wisconsin, of his right to appoint men of his own choosing and of his assertion that the state senate in refusing to confirm his choices is illegally obstructing his rights as the constitutional executive.

There will be no quarrel with that. The confusion about appointment and confirmation and the respective rights of the executive and the state senate is now so deep that an early adjudication by the state supreme court is obviously required.

But the governor has a poor case when he uses Mr. Keliher's situation as an example of his resentment toward the senate. For the fact is on the record, without dispute, that the governor did not submit his own choice of an auditor to the state senate. He acted to appoint his young friend John Gibson only after the state senate had adjourned. Thus, whatever the technical merits of his dispute with regard to other appointments, the Keliher situation simply is not relevant.

Mr. Reynolds evidently recognized this gaping hole in his argument for in a later news conference he complained that he ought to have the right to pick men suiting

The New John Birch Society

There has been an interesting development within the John Birch Society in recent months. The founder of the organization, Robert Welch, has been kicked upstairs, so to speak. He has been promoted to a position as the society's elder statesman where his contentious utterings can be muzzled.

At a recent testimonial dinner in Los Angeles, where 1,600 turned out to honor Welch, the main address was made by Ezra Taft Benson and Welch merely took a bow. At the last council meeting in Massachusetts, the main talk was given by Rep. Williams. Democrat from Mississippi, like Benson a nonmember of the society.

Most attacks on the Birch Society have concerned Welch's one-man rule of the organization and the preposterous charges he published in the formative days of the group. Like the one in which he labelled the then President Eisenhower a "dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy."

But the 27-member council as the governing body has been gradually expanding its authority and now issues its own statements of policy for the organization. And while Welch still writes and edits the society's bulletin, the voice members will hear will be that of the council.

The new Birch leaders are also working to dispel the public impression that it is a secret society. Television coverage of major meetings is encouraged. And they are trying to lower the emotionalism of their

Officials in Paris complain that the United States is trying to separate West Germany and France and that the United States' effort to reach accord with the Soviet Union is likely to result in a neutralized Germany. Erhard, however, backed United States efforts as long as any agreements with Russia are not made at German expense.

President de Gaulle is unlikely to bother very much about what Erhard says or thinks since he pays little attention to the opinions of others. But the new chancellor's words are important for the future development of Europe, the Common Market and NATO policies. For like Adenauer, De Gaulle must one day step down.

In all the current discussions about uniting Europe, it is likely that the leadership of that Europe will evolve upon either Germany or France even if England becomes more closely associated. De Gaulle seeks that leadership through independent policies and obvious efforts for the benefit of France. Erhard apparently seeks it through emphasis upon the United States role in it all.

his own philosophy of government, and that Mr. Keliher has been "sabotaging" the policies of the Democratic state administrations of the last five years. He added that the "sabotage" is well known.

But it is not well known. No such public charge has ever been made before the present governor uttered it. We don't know how the state auditor votes. But there is no public record, anywhere, of his partisan activity and so nobody else can offer any proof of his personal political feelings or voting behavior.

There will be those, parenthetically, who may wonder about the relevance of a man's private political views in such a job as auditor. The auditor's function is as vital as it is simple and easily grasped. It is his duty to ascertain the legality of public expenditures after they are made. He has no relation to making the policy involved in the appropriations. He has no function with regard to the operations of the disbursing departments. It is his specific obligation, however, to check to prove that public money spent was spent for the purposes set out in law. In that regard there can be no quarrel about his service. There are a hundred cases in the record to show the efficiency of the Keliher office.

Finally, for the governor to dump unceremoniously a professional state official after 38 years of faithful duty won't be calculated to encourage the idea of a career service to which Mr. Reynolds says he is dedicated.

This is a normal trend as any such organization matures. Such movements are generally started by wild-eyed crusaders like Welch, but if they generate any real success more moderate leaders take over. There is certainly a place in this country for conservative societies and the new Birch leaders apparently see a real opportunity for further expansion if they can keep Welch in the background and make of the society a vehicle for sincere conservatives rather than crackpots.

Dean Clarence Manion of Manion Forum fame is one of the members of the governing body. And it is interesting to note that there has been a companion development in that organization.

The Manion Forum recently announced a greatly expanded campaign to give Americans "a chance for a choice" in the 1964 elections. Without mentioning any candidates by name, the Forum disclosed it will spend considerable sums of money through the nation's mass media to promote a conservative candidate for president. It is certain that the Goldwater boom has made the Forum aware of its opportunities at this time.

The John Birch Society and the Manion Forum may yet be powerful influences in the 1964 elections, and given a more moderate approach in their efforts Senator Goldwater may be able to accept their support without it becoming a political liability.

League of Women Voters Stand
On Liberty Amendment Explained

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am becoming increasingly weary of the headlines on the letters to People's Forum which state that the League of Women Voters is not informed on the "Liberty amendment." I am even more weary of references to Joint Resolution 45S by the nickname "Liberty Amendment." Liberty is a word dear to the hearts of all Americans; to use it in connection with a piece of legislation concerning taxes and the mechanics of government is to raise emotions and cloud the issue.

Joint Resolution 45S is not lengthy nor is it difficult to understand. It asks Congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing the following amendment to the Constitution:

"Section 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"Section 2. The Constitution or laws of any state, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment.

"Section 3. The activities of the United States government which violate the intent and purposes of this amendment shall, within a period of years from the date of ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities affected shall be sold.

"Section 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment, the sixteenth article of amendments to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates or gifts."

This is quoted directly from Nations as guest speaker at a meeting of the Pythian Sisters. The program was an observance of United Nations Week and the eighth anniversary of the international organization.

Mrs. E. J. Goodrich, Appleton, was elected secretary of District Eight, Wisconsin Parent-Teachers Association. Mrs. Willis Van Horn, Appleton, was the retiring president.

Elected to the governing board of the Terror's Den were Brian DeNoble, Donna Roehm, Vern Bjerkvold, Nancy Carroll, Jack Close, Karen Eisch, Tom Wadsworth, Sandy Jentz, Jon Silliman, Margie Schmiede, Jim Coonen and Judy Polisky.

Richard Livingston was general chairman of the Appleton Jaycee's benefit performance of a professional road show in the musical "Annie Get Your Gun." Working with him on the project were Gerald Miller, Robert Yohr, Robert Chase, Lester Muenster, Edward Bollinbeck and Lewis Process.

Joint Resolution 45S as introduced into the Wisconsin Senate on April 3, 1963.

The League of Women Voters supports and operates under a set of eighteen governmental principles which is too long to be given here and some of which do not pertain in this matter. Three of these principles of support which are pertinent are as follows: (1) a system of federal, state, and local taxation which is flexible and equitable; (2) responsibility of government to share in the solution of social and economic problems which affect the general welfare; (3) domestic policies which facilitate the solution of international problems. With these principles as a base, the League conducted studies and came to the conclusions that it is not in the public interest to write limitations on tax rates into the Constitution nor is it in the public interest to change the Constitution so as to limit the existing powers of the President and Congress over foreign relations.

Here's Why
Haircut Is

From Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch

Yesterday two bits brought a lather and clip job, easy on the sides, please. Tomorrow it appears 28 bits may just buy the clip job. Members of the International Barbers Union recently announced a goal of $3.50 for haircuts. This has a number of implications to the average American man who is already chasing himself in circles to keep in step with the cost of living.

If Mr. America has three sons it means he will spend $20 a month to keep them shorn.

If he's a bachelor he'll spend roughly $84 annually to keep well-groomed.

There are, however, a few bright prospects to the otherwise disheartening thought of watching $3.50 fall around your shoulders every two weeks.

Higher prices will conceivably mean customers will get the benefit of the latest shoulder-juggling, neck - vacuuming inventions which have made the old barber counter look like a launching platform.

From an economic standpoint another rise in haircuts will be a godsend. For every disgruntled adult who decides

But most importantly a 28-bit haircut will cut down the ranks of psychologically distraught males who seek comfort on the psychiatrist's couch. Why go to an analyst when you can get the usual sage advice your barber offers ... at the quite respectable fee of $3.50 per half hour!

Boo-Boo by Legislature
Will Short Members
On Fall Term Expenses

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the legislature late in the summer raised the pay and allowances of its members, it acted with considerable haste. The evident idea was that if the action could be taken quickly there would be less publicity and less electoral notice and possibly less resentment about the timing of the act with a hefty boost in the tax liability of virtually every inhabitant of the state.

As it turns out the law-makers out-smarted themselves. They have now learned that because they were careless in their draftsmanship, their expense allowances will actually be cut. The effect of an opinion from the attorney general as published a few days ago is that the members of the senate and assembly when they return to session in November will be obliged to sit without collecting any expenses whatever. They have exhausted their expense accounts, under the terms of their hastily composed new law.

HOW IT GOES

The intention was to provide a more generous expense reimbursement system of $15 a day instead of a maximum of $175 a month.

But the draftsmen wrote into the new law a limit of 110 days for each biennial session. The political authors thought that would apply to the future. The attorney general finds that it applies this year as well, and that the 110 day limit has already been reached.

It would be a simple matter for the law-makers on November 4 to amend that law to assure themselves the right to continue to claim expense accounts for the duration of their stay this fall — and possibly for another adjournment session later in the biennium.

Gov. Reynolds would not be inclined to object, according to his previous attitudes. He is not inclined to interfere in the way the legislature keeps its own house. (He would be particularly loath to raise the question now, it may be supposed, since he is making a public issue of what he claims is unfair legislative interference with his own gubernatorial prerogatives, as in making appointments.)

But such action would be risky in the extreme. Voters might get the idea that these men are more interested in feathering their own nests than in disposing of the problems of the state. Reaction to the legislative salary raise enacted earlier in the year has been unfavorable — perhaps abetted by deliberately critical publicity in some quarters — but chilly nevertheless, and these men know it.

THE ISSUE

The emphasis upon legislative perquisites — which by comparison are modest enough — and the routine treatment of pay adjustments in other branches of government and politics in Wisconsin is one of the strange but evidently unchangeable facts of political life in this state.

The legislature is an easy and almost automatic target of political criticism. Such irritants draw attention far beyond their fiscal or other importance.

There are men in other branches of the public service in Wisconsin who are being paid far more generously for effort that by any definition is no more worthy, and frequently far less important.

The legislature is visible and conspicuously so, and thus it tends to get the brunt of the hostility of the man on the street arising out of his vague awareness that the cost of government is becoming painful to him.

Yet the issue remains: does the state want to maintain legislative compensation at a level reasonably sure to attract representative men, under the defined goals of the constitutional system? And does the state want to recognize that the simple days of short, easy legislative deliberations of the 19th century have passed — almost surely forever — and that the length of legislative calendars, the physical and intellectual exertions of elected representatives, and the quality of those representatives must be adapted accordingly?

What Does Bible Mean
By Sins of the Flesh?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Every decade or so, we are treated to some new translation of the Bible, which is supposedly clearer, more accurate and "more modern" in language than the archaic versions of our forefathers were nourished upon.

Nevertheless, these ancient editions maintain their hold upon us, because what one learns as a child becomes a comfortable incantation in later life, and we need never think it afresh or feel it anew. Besides, the powerful and old-fashioned phraseology of the King James version maintains an hypnotically awesome effect upon us.

Consider, for example, St. Paul's famous words about the "flesh" and the "spirit." Everyone who knows the Bible a little bit knows that the "flesh" is bad and the "spirit" is good. But hardly anyone, except a few ignored theologians, knows what the Bible meant by "flesh."

We suppose, in our haphazard and semi-educated way, that St. Paul was talking against "physical" things — that by "the sins of the flesh" he meant gluttony and drunkenness and fornication and the immoderate satisfaction of all the appetites. He meant nothing of the sort.

The "flesh" refers to the "natural man," as opposed to the "supernatural man." It is the total human personality of the man who has not been "reborn."

Thus, the sins of the flesh, according to Paul and the fathers of the Church, are primarily those attitudes and activities which contrast most sharply with the supernatural virtues: greed, vanity, pride, cruelty, injustice, and the hardness of heart that is the core of all of them.

In fact, the one lesson to be learned from a careful reading of the gospels is that Jesus counted these sins infinitely worse than the indulgence or perversion of the physical appetites. Everything in the gospels indicates that He preferred the company of the disreputable to the company of the respectable hypocrites.

Because so many have not understood what the Bible means by "flesh," it has been assumed that the "worst sins" are physical, when, of course, every competent theologian knows that they are "spiritual." Many so-called religious people even believe that the prime sin of Adam and Eve was sexual in nature, which is an insane distortion. Theirs was the spiritual sin of pride and disobedience.

New versions of the Bible try valiantly to correct these errors and misconceptions of words, but the emotional ties to the past are too strong. We live by words rather than by ideas, and when the wrong word is clamped to an idea at an early age, it is much easier for us to follow the word than to examine the idea behind it.

Personnel Needed for Waupaca Welfare Job

WAUPACA — Only one application has been received to fill the vacancy as a child case worker with the Waupaca County Welfare Department, according to John Lubbers, county director.

Lubbers said the position has been vacant since Oct. 1 when John Cadieux accepted a position at Wisconsin Rapids.

Lubbers has been doing some of the child welfare work, but said his administrative position makes it impossible to properly fill the position.

"Both Judge Wendell McHenry, the juvenile judge, and I are concerned about the welfare program which is suffering for not having enough help to carry out the program," Lubbers added.

Waupaca City Council Opens Bids For New National Guard Building

Local Firms' Low Offers on Heat, Construction, Wiring Total $19,395

WAUPACA — City Council equipment and, which, at a Tuesday night opened bids for the date, can be converted into the proposed garage for the fire and police station in the Waupaca National Guard unit's event city hall is vacated in equipment and found the project favor of the army.

Mayor Lloyd Matheson postponed action on bids until action Co. Waupaca, with the low rangements could be made with bid of $17,450. Doede Construction Co., Rosholt, submitted a bid of $18,240.

There were only two general construction bids for the 42 by 82-foot building, designed to house the National Guard's trucks, howitzers and other equipment. Bidders were Don's Construction Co., Waupaca, with the low bid at $1,300, and Billie Sheet Metal Co., Waupaca, was the only heating bid at $645.

Hiram Krebs, city engineer, who opened the bids said the Affairs, according to Frank Smith, county veterans service officer, said there is sufficient money available now for about the building over a 10-year span on the revenues from sufficient funds to meet the needs of the veterans.

Second mortgage housing loans are made available to veterans who had 90 days of service during World War II or the Korean conflict at 2 percent interest. The maximum loan is $3,500 and the value of the house can not exceed $17,500. It has been recently suggested that a change be made in the state allocation of funds to make each Wisconsin veteran eligible on an even basis. This would replace the three man committee, made up of two local contractors and a local architect, to investigate the costs of remodeling and building additions to the present schools.

Using a survey report prepared in May, 1962, by the cooperative educational research and services of the University of Wisconsin as a basis for his theory, Capener said, there is no other possible thing than a new school. He said members of the board do not have governmental background and therefore cannot do a just job. Many times citizens of the district have attended board meetings when they were not welcome.

Capener also attacked voters of the district for not turning out at the two referendums.

The vote to join the national PTA came following reports by Donald Brier, who had attended a state regional meeting of the PTA in Green Bay, and Mrs. Everette Klinzing, who had attended another PTA meeting in Waupaca. Both reported on the advantages of the services offered by the national organization aiding operation of a local group.

No Dues Under the present PTO, members were not required to pay any dues. Money was raised by card parties and other benefits. One of the requirements of the National PTA is that each member pay dues of 25 cents.

Parents of the district or any other interested citizens of the district who do not join are still welcome at the monthly meetings.

Following the approval of the motion to join the PTA, the members voted to conduct a survey of the taxpayers in the Readfield area to find out if they are in favor of a hot lunch program in Readfield School.

The school administrators already have indicated a hot lunch program in any schools in the district is not possible until a new high school is constructed.

Hot Lunch The Readfield School, along with the Lincoln School in New London, already have serving kitchens but are not equipped to prepare food. The same type of kitchen is being included in the new Sugar Bush School under construction.

New London PTO Joins National PTA

Withdrew 2 Years Ago in Dispute Over By-Laws of Larger Group

NEW LONDON — New London Parent-Teacher Organization members Monday night voted to rejoin the National Parent-Teachers Association.

The New London organization had been affiliated with the national group until two years ago. At that time it was decided to leave the PTA because of a dispute over one of the national by-laws.

No longer affiliated with the national PTA, the name of the organization had to be changed and it became the PTO.

The decision to again join the national ranks was turned over to the executive committee headed by president, Alfred Lau, for final arrangements on making application to the national PTA.

The vote to join the national PTA came following reports by Donald Brier, who had attended a state regional meeting of the PTA in Green Bay, and Mrs. Everette Klinzing, who had attended another PTA meeting in Waupaca. Other Revenues Up; Spending Boosted $40,203 to $4,486,507; County to Consider Plan Nov. 4

BY DICK LANEIS Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County's property tax levy would be $1,861,323, an increase of $20,503 over 1963, under the proposed 1964 budget to be presented to the county board Nov. 4.

Total spending in the new budget is up $40,203 to $4,486,507. However, expected revenues other than from the tax levy are also higher — $2,625,164 compared to this year's $2,605,461, an increase of $19,700.

With spending $40,203 higher and revenues only $19,700 higher, the difference — $20,503 — must be made up in higher property taxes if the budget, as it now stands, is approved.

Biggest spending increase is in the health category where $506,169 is proposed. Health figure for the 1963 budget was $411,555, or $192,613 less than this year's figure.

Accounting for the boost in health spending are three items: county general hospital $82,361 ($7,300), Golden Age Home No. 2 $248,431 ($185,469) and the county tuberculosis sanatorium $126,116 ($62,628).

Protection Costs Up Other categories with large spending increases are protection of person and property, up $26,242; categorical aids, up $22,037; penal, up $12,735; sundry, up $37,000, and unclassified up $20,360.

The increases in protection come principally from a $7,876 increase for the sheriff's department, including $1,300 for a lie detector, a $3,825 boost for traffic police, and an $11,700 increase in Civil Defense spending.

An $18,350 increase in aid to dependent children accounts for most of the increase in the categorical aids column; a $13,023 boost in jail spending supplies the increase in penal spending.

A $35,072 expenditure for the county farm is the principal boost in sundry spending while an undetermined increase in the county's share of the employee retirement program supplies the

Outagamie County Steps Forward Into Jet Age

(Picture on B-1)

Outagamie County took a giant step forward into the jet age Tuesday afternoon.

Ground officially was broken and construction was started on the county's new multi-million dollar airport in the Town of Greenville.

Today bulldozers and earth-moving machines of the Fox Valley Construction Co. began clearing land north of Spencer Road and south of U.S. 45 where part of the 5,200-foot long north-south runway will be located.

Gus A. Zuehlke, president of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, termed Tuesday afternoon's ceremony "an historic event."

He congratulated the county for its "far-sightedness in the development of a new, modern airport. This is the result of almost 20 years of planning and hard work," he said.

Expansion Zuehlke pointed out that by next year, the old airport on Ballard Road and Northland Avenue can be developed and used for the expansion of the city of Appleton.

"We of the Chamber of Commerce," Zuehlke said, "feel that the construction of the new airport is the most vital and important step toward maintaining further industrial growth of our community."

A. J. Ponath, corporation counsel who has represented Outagamie County at the Civil Aeronautics Board regional airport hearings, said "this is the day the people of the Fox Cities have been patiently waiting for."

Obstacles "We have finally attained the objective toward which the county board has been striving," Ponath went on. "Due to the fact that there have been many obstacles in the way which caused some of the faint-of-heart to doubt whether or not our objective could be attained, the doubtful has become a reality."

"The obstacles have been overcome and it will now only be a question of months when Outagamie County will have excellent full-fledged airport facilities which an area such as ours deserves."

"Thank You" "Community growth always results from joint community effort. To everyone who has assisted in the effort which is now becoming a reality, the county board and its airport committee extend a special thank you."

Nearly 100 officials and spectators were present at the Dexter Maas farm, one-half mile east of U.S. 45, site of the ground-breaking.

Earlier in the afternoon, representatives of the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission went over specifications and contracts for the new airport with county officials and representatives of Ralph H. Burke, Inc., Park Ridge, Ill., airport engineers for the project.

Stockbridge Wins Over Chilton JVs

STOCKBRIDGE — The Stockbridge High School Indians played a rugged defense and Tom Schoen's two scoring runs into a 13-0 win over the New Holstein junior varsity Monday at New Holstein.

It was the new football team's second win against one setback.

In the second quarter, the Indians got the football on a punt and mounted a 69-yard scoring drive that was capped by Tom Schoen's 28-yard payoff sprint. Gene Comerford's interception of a New Holstein pass in the third quarter set up the final score of the contest. Comerford returned 15 yards to the Indian 40 and a 60-yard drive resulted. Schoen went over from the two, and Bob Mayer plunged over for the point.

Stockbridge rushed the ball 31 times, gaining 173 yards. The two Indian passes fell incomplete. New Holstein was held to 31 yards in 24 rushes but completed six of 14 passes for 81 yards.

The Indians will clash with the Chilton Jayvees at Chilton Tuesday (7:30 p.m.).

Charges of Illegal Beer Sales Pending

Charges against at least three minors and the owners and operators of Ludwig's Lanes, route 3, Kaukauna, for alleged violations of malt beverage sales laws were pending today.

State beverage agents last Friday arrested Beatrice and Joseph Ludwig for allegedly selling beer to a 16-year-old and two 17-year-old youths.

State agents visited the tavern at the request of Sheriff Calvin Spice who said he had received a large number of complaints about beer being sold to minors at the tavern. Spice said he requested the investigation "because my investigators are too well known to the persons who frequent such taverns."

Spice said he planned to continue asking state agents' assistance in curbing violations of malt sales in the county. The agents work with the assistance of county investigators in making the arrests.

Lt. Joseph Vandenoever will request warrants charging the youths and tavern owners with the violations. Requests that the youths be waived from juvenile court will also be asked, Spice said.

'Modern Math' Topic of New London Meeting

NEW LONDON — Problems being encountered in the "New Math" program used in most schools in the area was the topic of discussion when the Fox Valley Curriculum Study Council met here Tuesday afternoon. Some of the problems discussed by math teachers and math department heads were, orientation of teachers, both in-service and pre-service, orientation of parents to the program, evaluation of new material, coordination of material in grades kindergarten through 12, problems encountered by slow learners, the use of standardized text books, and how "Modern Math" is defined.

Edward Peotter was one of 11 "no" votes in the 44 to 11 approval. The Post-Crescent regrets the error.

Your Money's Worth

Statistics Show 1 of 5 Families Have Cars

BY SYLVIA PORTER

There's a family of four on the West Coast headed by a 41-year-old electrical contractor with a high school education and an income in the $15,000-plus category. His wife is 34, his two sons are under 12, they are Dodge fans, read several newspapers and popular magazines, listen to radio mostly when they are in an automobile.

Porter

So far, they don't sound at all unusual but they are out of the ordinary indeed. They own 10 cars.

To Buy Another What's more, the head of the household told Sindlinger's Economic Service in an interview that he plans to buy a new convertible this fall. Since he does not intend to trade in, this will raise his ownership to 11 cars—range from a 1908 Packard to a 1911 Overland to a shining 1964 Ford.

The time never will come when the auto-mad family is typical of our country but we're well in the era of the two or more cars in every garage. In fact the normally conservative Chase Manhattan Bank of New York declares, "The widespread desire for more than one car has created what amounts to a booming new industry" and because of this U.S. automakers produce "an important and expanding market for many years ahead."

The growing dimensions of the multiple car market are startling even to the trade and will astound an outsider. Big Jump Just since 1949, the number of families owning more than one car has jumped from 1.5 million to 12 million—meaning one of every five families now is a multiple car owner.

While our personal incomes have risen 1½ times in this period and suburban population has about doubled, the rise in multiple car ownership has been an enormous 7-fold. A full 12 per cent of families owning one car today plan to enter the two-car class in the next 24 months, a new survey by Michigan University's Survey Research Center indicates. The 7-fold increase in multiple car ownership since 1949 is duplicated in the next 14 years, this will mean two cars in every family garage by 1960.

The importance of the accelerated shift to multiple car ownership is immense, for this development will make 1964 a 7-million-plus car sales year for the third year in a row and this in turn will be a vital factor in propping up the entire economy. The auto industry alone provides, directly or indirectly, one-seventh of the jobs in our country, gobbles up billions of dollars of basic materials and services. This one industry has been crucial in keeping the economic advance which began in early 1961 still alive in late 1963.

Obviously propelling the multiple car ownership trend are the increase in personal incomes, the availability of consumer loans, the relative stability of automobile prices. Personal incomes are running at an annual rate of over $466 billion, $21 billion above a year ago. Our buying power has been supported by an ample supply of installment credit and the auto industry has held the price line.

Transportation Slump Obviously, forces also are the trend to suburbia and the slump in the use of public transportation. The share of our transportation dollar going to public transportation has dwindled from 20 per cent to 8 per cent in the postwar period—even in the face of annual increases in air travel.

Not so obvious factors are the emergence of the suburban housewife and the young driver as additional automobile buyers who consider a second or third car not just a desirable possession but a necessity. In suburban areas across the country, housewives are demanding a car of their own to get to the shopping center or bank, to attend meetings or chauffeur the kids. As for the young driver, the 15-24 age category is increasing by about 6 per cent a year now against 3 per cent at the start of this decade. One-third of plans to buy used cars today involve youngsters and by their support of the used car market, they are spawning new car sales.

The 7 million a year car market is about to become commonplace in the U.S. and so is the two-car family. As long as we maintain a generally prosperous economy, our romance with the automobile will continue to blaze.

Stock Market Trading Heavy

Steels Apparently Have Weathered 'Scare Selling'

NEW YORK (AP)—A moderate recovery by steels highlighted a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The list advanced irregularly in early trading but backed away from some of its gains, leaving an uneven pattern.

The steels appeared to have weathered the "scare selling" of Tuesday over news of a federal grand jury investigation of steel pricing. The group rebounded unanimously but as the session continued some gains were trimmed.

Motors Weak Weakness developed in motors after a promising start and there was a general trimming of prices throughout the list.

Tobaccos remained generally high here. Airlines were down slightly as a group.

Among the "glamour" issues there were some contrary movements.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 6 at 280.6 with industrials up 8, rails up .4 and utilities up .3.

Dow Jones Industrial The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .73 at 747.94.

Subsequent to noon a number of the stocks from which the averages are compiled sold at lower prices.

Among them, Du Pont erased a gain exceeding one point. Also, Chrysler, which rebounded in early trading more than a point, erased its gain and showed a net loss approaching 2.

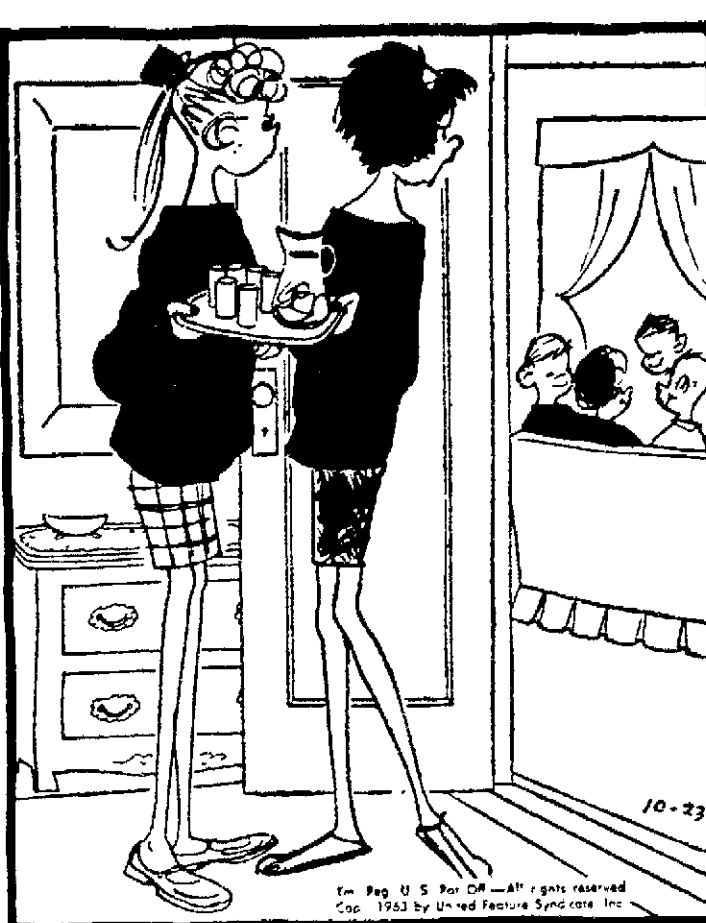

Among the steels, Jones & Laughlin and Youngstown Sheet held gains of about a point. J. L. and Republic Steel, which gained a fraction, reported sharp gains in profits. U.S. Steel clung to a fractional advance Bethlehem eased after an early gain.

HEARING A CALL TO THE CLOTH IS NO BLANKET INVITATION TO PREACH

DEAR CY:

After thinking I was cut out from a skilled workman, I finally found out why I was put on this earth I was sent here to be a preacher of God's word. Are there any educational requirements for a man who has the call to the cloth? Is there a need for Protestant ministers?

R. N. GARD

DEAR MR. GARD:

Despite 215,000 clergymen serving Protestant communists, there is a shortage of sky pilots. Rural areas suffer the greatest need and, in many places, one minister may divide his time between congregations. Employment for ministers closely follows population patterns and suburbia is at the top of the list for job openings in the next 10 years. Although laymen's attitudes may restrict a clergyman's social, civic and recreational life, educational requirements are much broader than in many fields. Formal education is not a mandatory requirement of many Protestant groups and others have varying qualifications. There are over 80 schools accredited by the American Association of Theological Schools. Some denominations insist a three year course be completed at one of them, at a Bible college or at a Bible institution. Although practically anyone can talk his way into this profession, success demands training and skill. . . as in anything else.

DEAR CY: Joseph, our only son, can't hold a steady job, although he's a hard worker. This has been going on for two years since college and the air force. After three months or so at a job, he loses interest. His main hobby has been studying health and body building. He reads widely on the subject and likes weight lifting and trampolining. Can you suggest a way to put his talents into the right career? No aptitude tests. We want your opinion, not a lot of mumbo jumbo.

MRS. J. M.

DEAR MRS. J.M.: Aptitude tests are not psycho-voodoo. Joe should take them through either an independent testing firm or the United States Employment office. Lacking their findings, I'd say he might be energized by becoming a physical therapist. Currently 80 per cent of the estimated 9,000 physical therapists are women, but the number of men entering the field is increasing rapidly. There are 42 schools approved by the American Medical Association and American Physical Therapy Assn., 1790 Broadway, New York for teaching this profession. The majority are affiliated with universities. Most courses last from a year to 16 months for college graduates whose undergraduate studies qualify them. Many scholarships are available. If Joe is emotionally stable, likes working with people, and has manual dexterity, this could be it. He could receive a tremendous amount of satisfaction from becoming skilled enough to physically rehabilitate adults and youngsters.

2 Persons Die in Auto Accidents

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a Washburn County woman and a Minnesota man as a result of separate accidents raised Wisconsin's 1963 traffic toll to 711 today compared with 757 a year ago.

Herbert Post, 32, of St. Paul Park, Minn., died Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Marshfield of injuries suffered in an accident Oct. 16. Post was riding in a car that missed a curve and struck a utility pole three miles west of Marshfield. Post and the driver, L. L. Haasie, 37, light and jailed and fined a St. Paul, Minn., lay in the wrecked car for five hours before a passing motorist discovered them.

Haasie was released from the hospital a day after the crash. Mrs. Vera Smith, 69, of rural Stone Lake, was killed Tuesday when two cars collided on Highway 53 between Haugen and Sarona in Barron County. Mrs. Smith's husband, John, 69, was injured seriously.

wrote you, I can't work outside my home eight hours a day. What is there left for me to do in order to get work?

SHEILA

DEAR SHEILA:

To Mother of Three I suggest (among other things) running classified ads to herald her availability. Since you evidently dismissed this point as hogwash, hear these words of Joseph D. Cooper, author of the new book, "A Woman's Guide to Part-Time Jobs" (Doubleday $4.50). He states, "An advantage of inserting your own classified ad in a newspaper is that you yourself out of simultaneous competition with others. State the kind of job first and then follow with the words 'part-time.' Be explicit as to the hours or days you can work. You can give your telephone number or, if you prefer, you can list a newspaper box number. Sometimes a telephone number brings a more ready response."

Sturgeon Bay Youth Guilty of Shining Deer

Dale Foth, 18, Jailed, Fined $200 For Offense

CHILTON — A Manitowoc County Judge Tuesday confiscated a car, two rifles and a light and jailed and fined a youth caught shining deer east of here last week.

Dale Foth, 18, route 5, Sturgeon Bay, pleaded guilty of possession of two firearms and an artificial light for the purpose of hunting deer from a car when he appeared before Judge Harold W. Mueller in County Court Branch 2. The charge was brought against Foth by Calumet County Conservation Warden Keith Reichenbach.

Foth was sentenced to 30 days in county jail and fined $200. An additional 60 day jail term was ordered in lieu of the fine which has not yet been paid. Foth confessed his part in a nighttime chase late last week. The Warden had spotted the youth and a companion shining deer south of Reisterer's Corners. He had to dive for the ditch to avoid being run down by the pair when he attempted to set up a road block. Reichenbach said. Foth and his companion abandoned the car and fled into a dense swamp. Investigation to bring charges against Foth's companion are continuing, Reichenbach said.

Statistics Show 1 of 5 Families Have Cars

BY SYLVIA PORTER

There's a family of four on the West Coast headed by a 41-year-old electrical contractor with a surely will astound an outsider.

Big Jump

Just since 1949, the number of families owning more than one car has jumped from 1.5 million to 12 million—meaning one of every five families now is a multiple car owner.

While our personal incomes have risen 1 1/2 times in this period and suburban population has about doubled, the rise in multiple car ownership has been an enormous 7-fold.

A full 12 per cent of families owning one car today plan to enter the two-car class in the next 24 months, a new survey by Michigan University's Survey Research Center indicates. If the 7-fold increase in multiple car ownership since 1949 is duplicated in the next 14 years, this will put two cars in every family garage by 1963.

Great Importance

The importance of the accelerated shift to multiple car ownership is immense, for this development will help make 1964 a 7 million-plus car sales year for the third year in a row and this in turn will be a vital factor in propping our entire economy.

The auto industry alone provides, directly or indirectly, one-seventh of the jobs in our country, gobbles up billions of dollars of basic materials and services. This one industry has been crucial in keeping the economic advance which began in early 1961 still alive in late 1963.

Obviously pronouncing the multiple car ownership trend are the surges in personal incomes, the availability of consumer loans, the relative stability of automobile prices. Personal incomes are running at an annual rate of over $466 billion, $21 billion above a year ago. Our buying power has been supported by an ample supply of instalment credit and the auto industry has held the price line.

Transportation Slump

Obviously, forces also are at work to curb the trend to suburbia and the slump in the use of public transportation. The share of our transportation dollar going to public transportation has dwindled from 20 per cent to 8 per cent in the postwar period—even in the face of annual increases in air-line travel.

Not so obvious factors are the emergence of the suburban housewife and the young driver as additional automobile buyers who consider a second or third car not just a desirable possession but a necessity. In suburban areas across the country, housewives are demanding a car of their own to get to the shopping center or bank, to attend meetings or chauffeur the kids. As for the young driver, the 15-24 age category is increasing by about 6 per cent a year now against 3 per cent at the start of this decade. One-third of plans to buy used cars today involve youngsters and by their support of the used car market, they are spawning new car sales.

The 7 million a year car market is about to become commonplace in the U. S. and so is the two-car family. As long as we maintain a generally prosperous economy, our romance with the automobile will continue to blaze.

(Distributed 1963 by The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)
(All Rights Reserved)

What's more, the head of the household told Sindlinger's Economic Service in an interview that he plans to buy a new convertible this fall. Since he does not intend to trade in, this will raise his ownership to 11 cars—up from a 1908 Packard and a 1911 Overland to a shining new 1964.

The time never will come when the auto-mad family is typical of our country but we're well on the way to the era of two or more cars in every garage.

In fact, the normally conservative Chase Manhattan Bank of New York declares, "The widespread desire for more than one car has created what amounts to a booming new industry" and because of this, U.S. automakers are facing "an important and expanding market for many years."

Stock Market Trading Heavy

Steels Apparently Have Weathered 'Scare Selling'

NEW YORK (AP)—A moderate recovery by steels highlighted a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The list advanced irregularly in early trading but backed away from some of its gains, leaving an uneven pattern.

The steels appeared to have weathered the "scare selling" of Tuesday over news of a federal grand jury investigation of steel pricing. The group rebounded unanimously but as the session continued some gains were trimmed.

Motors Weak

Weakness developed in motors after a promising start and there was a general trimming of prices throughout the list.

Tobacco remained generally higher. Airlines were down slightly as a group.

Among the "glamour" issues there were some contrary movements.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 6 at 280.6 with industrials up .8, rails up .4 and utilities up .3.

Dow Jones Up

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .73 at 747.94.

Subsequent to noon a number of the stocks from which the averages are compiled sold at lower prices.

Among them, Du Pont erased a gain exceeding one point. Also, Chrysler, which rebounded in early trading more than a point, erased its gain and showed a net loss approaching 2.

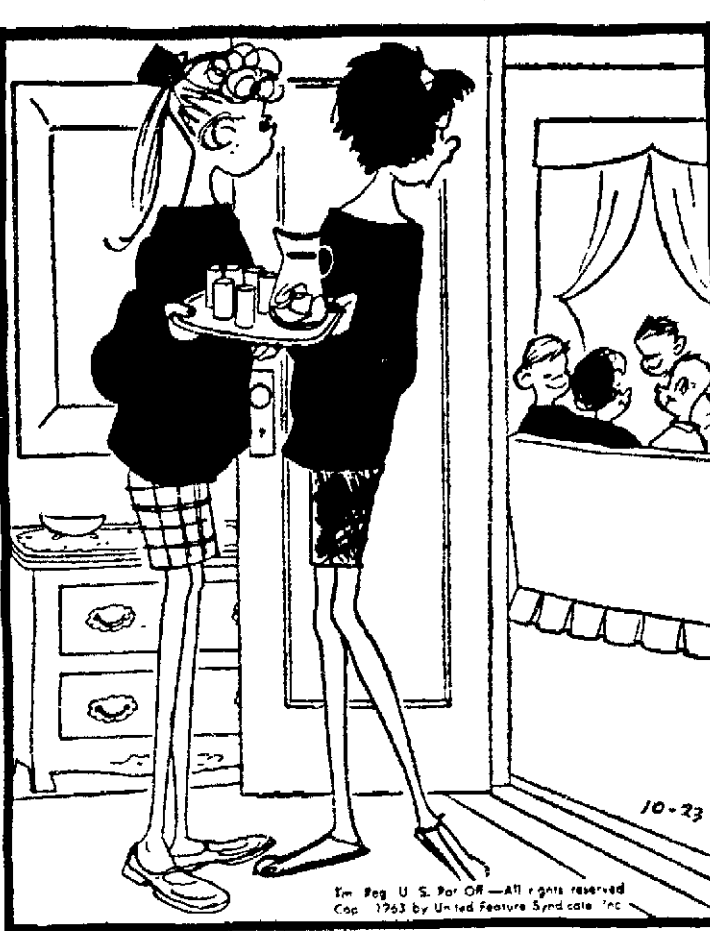

Among the steels, Jones & Laughlin and Youngstown Steel held gains of about a point. J. & L. and Republic Steel, which gained a fraction, reported sharp gains in profits. U.S. Steel clung to a fractional advance. Bethlehem eased after an early gain.

New Products

Minneapolis-Honeywell, which announced a group of new products, advanced more than 3. Johnson & Johnson dropped more than 7 points of its recent high gains.

Xerox, ahead 13 1/2 points Tuesday, lost half a dozen points. Losses of about a point

HEARING A CALL TO THE CLOTH IS NO BLANKET INVITATION TO PREACH

DEAR CY:

After thinking I was cut out to be a skilled workman, I find myself to be a preacher of God's word. Are there any educational requirements for a man who has the call to the cloth? Is there a need for Protestant ministers?

R. N. GARD

DEAR MR. GARD:

Despite 215,000 clergymen serving Protestant communities, there is a shortage of sky pilots. Rural areas suffer the greatest need and, in many places, one minister may divide his time between congregations. Employment for ministers closely follows population patterns and suburbia is at the top of the list for job openings in the next 10 years. Although laymen's attitudes may restrict a clergyman's social, civic and recreational life, educational requirements are much broader than in most fields. Formal education is not a mandatory requirement of many Protestant groups and others have varying qualifications. There are over 80 schools accredited by the American Association of Theological Schools. Some denominations insist a three year course be completed at one of them, at a Bible college or at a Bible institution. Although practically anyone can talk his way into this profession, success demands training and skill. . . as in anything else.

DEAR CY:

Joseph, our only son, can't hold a steady job, although he's a hard worker. This has been going on for two years since college and the air force. After three months or so at a job, he loses interest. His main hobby has been studying health and body building. He reads widely on the subject and likes weight lifting and trampolines. Can you suggest a way to put his talents into the right career? No aptitude tests. We want your opinion, not a lot of mumbo jumbo.

MRS. J. M.

Aptitude tests are not psycho-voodoo. Joe should take them through either an independent testing firm or the United States Employment office.

Lacking their findings, I'd say he might be energized by becoming a physical therapist. Currently 80 per cent of the estimated 9,000 physical therapists are women, but the number of men entering the field is increasing rapidly. There are 42 schools approved by the American Medical Association and American Physical Therapy Assn., 1790 Broadway, New York for teaching this profession. The majority are affiliated with universities. Most courses last from a year to 16 months for college graduates whose undergraduate studies qualify them. Many scholarships are available. If Joe is emotionally stable, likes working with people, and has manual dexterity, this could be it. He could receive a tremendous amount of satisfaction from becoming skilled enough to physically rehabilitate adults and youngsters.

DEAR CY:

For over a month, I have been telling friends I am looking for part-time employment. I have also called on employment agencies who tell me, "We have nothing part-time." Like "Mother of Three" who

2 Persons Die in Auto Accidents

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a Washburn County woman and a Minnesota man as a result of separate accidents raised Wisconsin's 1963 traffic toll to 711 today compared with 757 a year ago.

Herbert Post, 32, of St. Paul Park, Minn., died Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Marshfield of injuries suffered in an accident Oct. 16. Post was riding in a car that missed a curve and struck a utility pole three miles west of Marshfield. Post, 37, light and jailed and fined a St. Paul, Minn., lay in the wrecked car for five hours before a passing motorist discovered them.

Haasie was released from a hospital a day after the crash. Mrs. Vera Smith, 69, of rural Stone Lake, was killed Tuesday when two cars collided on Highway 53 between Haugen and Saronia in Barron County. Mrs. Smith's husband, John, 69, was injured seriously.

Set Funeral Rites for Manitowoc Ad Man

MANITOWOC—Funeral services for Joseph C. Logan, 57, member of the Manitowoc Herald-Times advertising department for 34 years, will be held at 9:30 a. m. Friday in Sacred Heart Catholic Church here.

Logan, a long-time member of the Wisconsin Newspaper Advertising Executives Association died early Tuesday in Holy Family Hospital.

Survivors include his widow, a son, a daughter, three brothers, and three sisters.

wrote you, I can't work outside my home eight hours a day. What is there left for me to do in order to get work?

DEAR SHEILA:

To Mother of Three I suggested (among other things) running classified ads to herald her availability. Since you evidently dismissed this point as hogwash, hear these words of Joseph D. Cooper, author of the new book, "A Woman's Guide to Part-Time Jobs" (Doubleday $4.50). He states: "An advantage of inserting your own classified ad in a newspaper is that you take your self out of simultaneous competition with others. State the kind of job first and then follow with the words 'part-time.' Be explicit as to the hours or days you can work. You can give your telephone number or, if you prefer, you can list a newspaper box number. Sometimes a telephone number brings a more ready response."

Sturgeon Bay Youth Guilty of Shining Deer

Dale Foth, 18, Jailed, Fined $200 For Offense

CHILTON — A Manitowoc County Judge Tuesday confiscated a car, two rifles and a light and jailed and fined a youth caught shining deer east of here last week.

Dale Foth, 18, route 5, Sturgeon Bay, pleaded guilty of possession of two firearms and an artificial light for the purpose of hunting deer from a car when he appeared before Judge Harold W. Mueller in County Court Branch 2. The charge was brought against Foth by Calumet County Conservation Warden Keith Reichenbach.

Foth was sentenced to 30 days in county jail and fined $200. An additional 60 day jail term was ordered in lieu of the fine which has not yet been paid. Judge Mueller also ordered confiscated the 1957 model car the youth was driving, two 22 caliber rifles and the light. Foth, a Manitowoc County sawmill laborer, did not own the vehicle. He had borrowed it from his employer.

Foth confessed his part in a nighttime chase late last week. The Warden had spotted the youth and a companion shining deer south of Reister's Corners. He had to dive for the ditch to avoid being run down by the pair when he attempted to set up a road block, Reichenbach said. Foth and his companion abandoned the car and fled into a dense swamp.

Investigation to bring charges against Foth's companion are continuing, Reichenbach said.

78-Year-Old Chilton Man Makes Walking Sticks, Canes as Hobby

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CHILTON — Louis Stark of this community is perky and chipper and 78 years old, but he plies his hobby by making things he never has needed, does not need now and may never need. He makes walking sticks.

Painstakingly and ingeniously he makes them and naturally, too, for most of the 235 specimens in his cane collection have been fashioned from branches he himself has selected from woodlands and by-roads where he has traveled.

If nature has contorted a root or a bough into an unusual shape, it may become a stick with a dog-head handle or that of a goose, or that of a goat. Stark works his woods lovingly and with imagination.

"I am," he will tell you, "a wood hound." He is, too. He loves the grain or the rain-stain the hues or the contorting of wood fibres and he works meticulously to bring out the natural beauty of wood or of twists and turns.

Stark, a retired jewelry store proprietor and a long-time resident of Chilton, might have gravitated to the loving manufacture of walking sticks by a natural process, but it was in fact the need of a friend who stimulated his hobby.

Some 18 years ago the late Max Schwab of Appleton was in need of a walking stick due to a minor injury.

Finds Hobby

When his friend Stark saw him lumping about with a board from a fence, he decided to rectify the handicap. He strolled through the woods, found two suitable boughs and rendered them both into walking sticks. He gave one to Schwab and kept the other, but the joy in making them was great, he had found a hobby.

Stark's collection which includes a number of hand-crafted shepherd's crooks has been crafted from boughs from almost all of the nation's 50 states, though he has not attempted to assemble a wide variety of woods. Some are too soft; some are too plain; some are simply unattractive. Stark wishes his sticks to be both beautiful and utilitarian.

His sticks have been made mainly from maple which he likes; from ash, cypress, walnut, spruce; but he also has some of ebony, balsam, prickly ash, cacti (from Arizona), lilac, sumac, myrtle (from S. Carolina), and alder. Strangely enough, the favorite walking stick in his diversified collection is a gold-headed ebony one which he did not make. But his attachment to it is solely sentimental. It sold, long ago, for $28.50 and belonged to his mother. This stick is not for sale.

Strangely enough, too, the collection of handsome sticks are "on the market." When and if a purchaser is found, Stark's intention is to turn the funds they bring over to an orphanage of which he is fond.

Hunts Unconsciously

When Stark goes a-hunting for bough or branch he does it "unconsciously," he says. "If I look for a suitable one, he added, 'I hardly ever find it.' But I've been half-looking for these 18 years and I find a lot of them other people might

Chilton Groups Organize Tour

CHILTON — Three local organizations are cooperating to make farm-city tours Nov. 9 possible.

The observance of Farm-City Week is being arranged by the Chilton Kiwanis Club, the Chilton Chamber of Commerce and the extension service. Orrin Meyer, county agent, represents the latter and is in charge of reservations.

A bus will leave the State Bank parking lot at 1 p. m. Nov. 9 for a tour of some of the area's modern farms. The tour will be completed at 4 p. m.

Purchases Building

CLINTONVILLE — Warren Mitchell, owner and operator of The Trading Post, 5 S. Main St., has announced the purchase of the former Grand Theater building, 48 S. Main St., from Dr. E. W. Luebke and Mrs. W. H. Finney. Mitchell plans to use the building as a store for the sale of new and used furniture.

are universally termed "canes," they are "walking sticks." The mixed terminology comes from the fact that once, long ago, most walking sticks were made of light, tough cane like bamboo.

At any rate, many people come visiting at the Stark home at 621 Maple Street in Chilton to look and to admire, and Stark will display his object as the conformation of the wood d'art with such pride and enthusiasm as befits any good and thorough workman.

flag, the J. Louis is owned by Universe Tankships, Inc., of New York, and is chartered by Caribbean Steamship Co., a subsidiary of Reynolds Metals Co., as an ore carrier.

Caribbean President Walter L. Rice said at Richmond, Va., that the J. Louis was unarmed and carried only its normal crew.

The State Department placed the time of attack at 12:40 a.m. Fighter planes from Key West, Fla., sped to the scene, but when they arrived all hostile activity had ceased.

Kennedy Criticized
Thirteen Republican senators marked the Cuban crisis anniversary by accusing President Kennedy of failing to carry out promises to remove the Communist menace from the hemisphere.

"Occupied Cuba is now, as it was a year ago, an advance base for aggressive world communism," they said in a statement. Among other things they called for recognition of a provisional exile government.

The 13 Republicans who approved the statement are Sens. Gordon Allott and Peter Dominick of Colorado, Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, Wallace Bennett of Utah, Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska of Nebraska, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Karl Mundt of South Dakota, James Pearson and Frank Carlson of Kansas, Milward Simpson of Wyoming, J. U. S. May Sell Hungary Corn who negotiated the Soviet purchase of Canadian wheat in September.

The shipping requirement, however, does not hinder sales of corn and other grains. Last Friday the Commerce Department exempted grains other than wheat from the requirement.

May Set Guidelines
The Washington Post today quoted a grain firm as saying in New York that it expected the Commerce Department to take prompt action today on an export license to make the first shipment to Hungary. The commitment is expected to eventually total 100,000 tons of corn, the firm said.

Government and commercial sources appeared confident that the freight cost situation would not be allowed to interfere with wheat sales to the Reds. This was expressed at a news conference Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and in private by Agriculture Department officials.

Unloading Difficulties
The problem appeared to be one of rectifying the transportation difficulty without placing the President in a position of backing down on his requirement giving U.S. ships priority in moving the grain.

This might be done, sources said, by government action setting ocean freight guidelines on the wheat destined for the Soviet areas.

American shipping lines, which were unwilling to move the grain at these rates could be classed as unavailable within the meaning of Kennedy's directive. This would have the effect of putting grain on foreign ships if not enough American boats wanted the business at the government's guideline rates.

Firm Expects License
Grain trade experts see other difficulties in carrying out transactions with the Russians. They doubt the Soviets have sufficient unloading facilities to unload the ships without great delays which could bring difficulties in compensating shipowners.

Some trade leaders feel that American longshoremen may balk at loading grain on foreign boats.

In addition, there are misgivings in the grain trade as to whether American ports themselves have sufficient facilities to handle all the grain that the Soviet bloc as well as friendly nations will be seeking.

Reaction to Lawrence, Downer College Merger Is Enthusiastic

leges. It is a highly satisfactory solution for Downer, and benefits Lawrence as well. It goes back to the name that Lawrence abandoned in 1913, but goes back on a perfectly rational basis. The name Lawrence University justifies the Institute of Paper Chemistry's Ph.D. degree much more than the word college does, for there is a certain pride in getting a degree from a university."

President Nathan M. Pusev, tenth president of Lawrence and now head of Harvard University, said, "I am thoroughly delighted to hear the news that Milwaukee-Downer is to move to Appleton and join with Lawrence in the exciting business of liberal education. Congratulate all those who have worked to bring about this promising union."

Purposes Strengthened
Duke University President Douglas M. Knight, who left the campus for his southern post during the summer, said, "Nothing in the past few months has given me as much pleasure as the discovery that Lawrence and and furthered through its merger with the resources of Milwaukee - Downer College. It had broken out in the capital, 'Dear Me! What interesting addition to the capital of the college times we live in! As a member of the faculty, I am grateful for the increased opportunities this presents to Lawrence College day and tomorrow have led to continue its major task. It allows both distinguished and continues to its educational role."

Dr. W. Paul Gilbert, who is an historic milestone which this consolidation. John B. Johnson, Jr., Downer's president, said: "The merger will produce one of the strongest independent liberal arts institutions in the nation and it will greatly strengthen Wisconsin."

Lawrence Will Benefit
Anne P. Jones, professor of French and holder of the Bergstrom chair in the humanities, said: "We are honored that Lawrence should have been chosen as the affiliate of Milwaukee-Downer through the current school year, but has no firm plans for after July. Appletion city officials could not be reached for comment. They are in Milwaukee attending the convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities this week. Efforts to locate Mayor Clarence Mitchell were unsuccessful as the League is conducting several workshop sessions. However, our language department will undoubtedly benefit from the consolidation."

Stephen R. Elliott, Fond du Lac, president of the student body, announced: "The virtual doubling of Lawrence's present endowment can have only a beneficial effect on the rising prestige of our institution. Dr. Tarr, in exhibiting a capacity for foresighted administration, contributes substantially to the realization of his stated goal—academic excellence on the undergraduate level. The student body, I am sure, recognizes the great potential of this administrative achievement, and will look with pride to Lawrence University."

The Lawrence - Downer merger was heralded by officials at Milwaukee.

"We are convinced that joining Lawrence is the best way to meet today's educational needs and assure Downer of a bright and useful future," commented Charles W. Stone, chairman of the Downer Board of Trustees.

Careful Study
Stone said the decision to merge came after many months of deliberation and careful study.

I want you to know that, to the greatest extent possible, we will take into consideration the personal interests of the students, alumni, faculty and administrations of both colleges in bringing them together in what I firmly believe will be one of the great private educational institutions of the country," Stone told Downer students at a convocation.

"We are living in a time of great change, and although Milwaukee - Downer College can continue to be viable and make the contribution to the education of women which is its central purposes," Stone added, "the need for educational adjustment to the educational needs of today and tomorrow have led the trustees to their decision about this consolidation."

John B. Johnson, Jr., Downer's president, said: "The merger will produce one of the strongest independent liberal arts institutions in the nation and it will greatly strengthen Wisconsin."

The planes began ferrying the men of the U.S. 2nd Armored Division—the old "Hell on Wheels" division—from the United States Tuesday night in a demonstration of the mobility of America's strength.

The airlift aroused fears in West Germany that it was the prelude to a reduction of U.S. troops in Europe and that the United States would rely instead on fast airlifts to trouble spots.

Frankfurt Fog Pocket

To quiet such fears, a high-ranking U.S. official said in Washington Tuesday night that Secretary of State Dean Rusk would announce during a visit to West Germany over the weekend that the United States has no intention of withdrawing any of its 250,000 troops in Europe. A spokesman said the Frankfurt base was in a fog pocket and conditions at other bases in West Germany were good.

The report bristled with unexpected criticisms from a committee which recommended restoring $700,250,000 of a $1-billion House cut. The bill was only $127,250,000 shy of what President Kennedy requested.

It said evidence showed the program has been generally successful in strengthening the security and advancing the United States and the free world.

But the committee said it was not impressed with the administration's case for maintaining aid programs, even on a small scale, "in virtually every underdeveloped country in the free world and in a few developed or relatively developed countries."

Real Problem in Family

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy 17 years old who has never had a serious conversation with either of my parents. It seems incredible that people can live under the same roof for so many years and never experience an exchange of ideas, but I swear it's the truth.

My parents are both professional people, socially prominent and well-respected in the community. They are good speakers and in demand as lecturers. But they don't know how to talk to their own son.

I have tried to get my parents to talk to me but I've failed. They are polite, they clothe, feed and instruct me but they haven't the faintest idea of how I feel about anything.

My best friend's father never saw the ninth grade. He works in an automobile factory. His mother is a dressmaker. Yet — Vincent Number Two's Mother there is fun and laughter and real conversation in their home. They are all friends. What is wrong in our house? — High Wall the noble experiment is over and now you will handle the money and give her an allowance. Plan a budget and stick to it. And please don't fail to include a monthly payment to your parents.

DEAR ANN: I just had to write to tell you how right you are. I was like Vincent's mother — I wouldn't let my son out of my sight. I kept telling myself that my son needed me, but I know now it was my weakness, not his. Today I am sad and sorry.

My "Vincent" is 22 years old now. He can't decide what necktie to wear in the morning. He barely got out of high school and he stayed in college three weeks and then came home — like Vincent, who couldn't stay at camp. My son has no friends, either boys or girls. All he wants to do is hang around with me and the other widows in my crowd. He is an overgrown baby and I am to blame. Thanks for letting me get this off my chest. — Vincent Number Two's Mother

Dear Mother: Getting it off your chest doesn't do much for your son. This boy needs professional help and I hope you will see that he gets it.

Parents are people — they can be right and they can be wrong. To help understand their viewpoint and to promote harmony at home, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

included a reception card containing an R.S.V.P. Of two hundred that were mailed, exactly two people had the courtesy to reply! This left things in limbo and not knowing what else to do. I went ahead with preparations for all. Half of them came, which left me with a large bill for those who did not come and who lacked the manners to let me know their intentions. To this day, when I meet these people, they never mention the wedding in any way. My reason for writing this is that I'd like to remind people that a request for a reply is there so that the hostess will have an idea as to how many to plan for at the reception. Am I right?

Louise Davis Answers: A great big yes, you are right. Your experience is shocking and almost incredible that only two out of two hundred acknowledged your request for replies. I am assuming that your address was available to all, either in the telephone book or under your R.S.V.P. I will gladly print your letter, hoping it will jog up others in the future that it is an infallible rule that requests for replies to invitations must be answered and without delay.

Child's Share of Colds Avoidable

If frequent colds cause your child to miss school, there are a number of things you can do to minimize them — in spite of the fact that his playmates are ideal cold carriers — and your child may come into contact with more than 100 other youngsters during the day.

A leading drug company says Americans catch about three colds apiece every year — and it's no coincidence that the first wave of colds usually coincides with the re-opening of schools and the massing of children in doors.

The second wave of colds comes later in the winter and is often more severe. These colds are apt to be accompanied by an increasing number of secondary infections.

A smaller run of spring colds — just in time for spring vaca-

Miss Van Ryzin Betrothal of Daughter Announced

Miss Sharon Van Ryzin's engagement to Norbert Johnson was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger T. Van Ryzin, 1424 N. Bennett St. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. Mid-Johnson is a communication doors. The couple was graduated 80's inside! from Appleton High School. A lower room temperature specialist in the Air Force. tion—winds up the season with a sniffle. Despite the fact that science has not come up with a sure-fire cold cure, doctors say there are several positive acts which can minimize your child's chances of catching cold, make him comfortable if he does catch one, and head off severe complications which might possibly follow.

Avoid chilling. Be sure rain-gear and extra sweaters are on hand for that unexpected turn in the weather—children are noted for leaving such equipment at school or at a friend's house on the last warm day. Rounding gear up beforehand removes morning confusion, and possibly a cold. While no one has proved that exposure brings on colds directly, some doctors say that cold viruses may lie dormant on the membranes of the nose and throat, waiting to strike when resistance is down.

Use Proper Dosages

Consult your doctor about cold medications for children. Your doctor is the only person who can prescribe for your child as an individual — and it's wise not to try to do it yourself, or try to cut adult pills in half to get a "junior dosage."

Insist on proper nutrition. The noted medical authority, Dr. Morris Fishbein, says in his "Popular Medical Encyclopedia" that children who are well fed and well taken care of are much less likely to catch cold than those who are not.

Don't fall prey to the attitude that a cold is inevitable. Even during the pressure of holidays and other tension-crowded events, remember that your child needs orange juice or other high vitamin C fruit once a day, meals high in meat or other protein, and, of course, milk.

Proper Humidity Necessary

Don't overheat your house. When you awake on a chilly morning it's a temptation to turn the heat way up; some- times you forget about it be- fore. Mr. and Mrs. Roger T. cause you adjust to the increas- ing temperature gradually. Dear High Wall: In a word — no communication. The time to start talking to children is the moment they are born. Parents who don't think their youngsters have any ideas worth listening to find one day that their children are strangers.

Educated parents are not necessarily successful parents. No course in college teaches warmth, love and how to give and share. Such feelings are caught — not taught.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem is a wife who is a spender. I work two jobs and make excellent money. I turn everything over to her and she gives me $5 a week.

We are forever being dunned by bill collectors. We can't afford a really nice vacation or a new car, but we seem to have money for everything and anything a door-to-door salesman has to sell.

We borrowed money from my family five years ago to make a down-payment on our home. This debt has not been repaid and I feel rotten about it because I know my folks could use the money.

My wife is a good mother and a pleasant person but I'm tired both physically and mentally with this disorganized, frustrating way of life. What's the answer? — Down in the Dumps

Secretaries Study Art of Communication

"Effective Communication" was the theme of the second Seminar for Business Women, held Saturday at 41 Bowl. The Fox Cities Chapter of National Secretaries Association (International) was hostess to 151 secretaries and guests. "Taking the Double Talk out of Communications" was the topic of a talk by Horace H. Mann, Senior Training Assistant, Marathon Division of American

Can Co., who also showed two films, "More Than Words" and "Listen Please." Means of Transfer Defining communication as the conveying of orders, facts, and feelings from one mind to another, it was stressed that the efficiency of a company depends on the right kind, amount, timing and flow of communications. Basic ground rules for communicating included being sure of what is intended, getting things into logical order; arousing interest in the listener, and speaking in a language the listener can understand. Few people realize that listening is part of the communication system, the speaker noted. The main step for honest listening is learning to concentrate on what is said. One has to understand and remember what is said in order to be a good listener, hence a good communicator.

Should Continue

Charles W. Banta, supervisor of finance and office programs, Management Institute, University of Wisconsin, spoke on "The Value of Continuing Education." His talk was pointed to the secretary for self-analysis and self-education.

Miss Florence Brewster, chairman of the Seminar workshop, introduced Mrs. Thomas Davis, CPS, who narrated a film on good office grooming, "The Secret of Jane Grey."

Mrs. Ruby O. Ayer, lecturer and consultant at the Fond du Lac Vocational and Adult School, spoke on "Communicating Through Personality."

Secretaries from Racine, Milwaukee, Marinette, Wausau, Fond du Lac and the Fox Valley attended the meeting.

Religion Obligated to Change With Times

"We live in rapidly changing times. The church must either change its pattern to fit the facts, and thus survive, or call man back to belief of God with the ordered, traditional establishment." This theme was stressed by John M. Stanley, instructor of religion at Lawrence College, Tuesday at the Challenge of Change seminar program of continuing education for the mature woman at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Change in the 20th century has threatened man's sense of identity in religion. The easy answer suggested by the popular theologians is "the way out of the problem is to go back" to belief in the traditional God. Religion Must Be Contemporary. "I don't think the answer to change is to go back to religious beliefs of a discarded, bygone age," said Mr. Stanley. Popular Christianity has failed to be contemporary with its people. It has tried to fit the facts to the pattern rather than the pattern to the facts. Christian scholars have long been aware of the necessity to change thought categories. But the change has failed to filter down to the people.

If Christianity will help man meet the challenge of change it must first "put its own house in order." It's impossible for 20th century man to believe with his whole mind. The first-century Palestinian accepted the belief that God was up and the demon was down. If a man was insane, he was possessed by a demon. Now when an astronaut is orbiting the earth, man does not believe that he is necessarily closer to God. Man has "compartmentalized" religion in a section of his mind.

Those attending the seminar were asked to read Bishop John Robinson's book "Honest to God." Mr. Stanley explored three of Robinson's major propositions in his discussion.

Religion Must Change. Robinson points out that in order for Christianity to help modern man meet the challenge of change religion must become non-mythological, non-supernatural and non-religious.

Demythologizing the Bible does not mean to take the myths out of it completely. They must be understood for what they are, says Rudolf Bultmann in his

"The Animal and the Molecule" will be the lecture topic of Dr. Margaret Chea Gilbert in the fourth of the Today's in order. It's impossible for 20th century man to believe with his whole mind. The first-century Palestinian accepted the belief that God was up and the demon was down. If a man was insane, he was possessed by a demon. Now when an astronaut is orbiting the earth, man does not believe that he is necessarily closer to God. Man has "compartmentalized" religion in a section of his mind.

Mrs. Gilbert, professor of biology, has been a member of the Lawrence College faculty since 1946. She received her B.A. from Oberlin College, Ohio; her M.A. from Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.; and her Ph.D. from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. She was asked to read Bishop John Robinson's book "Honest to God" and did research in Mod-ern Biology at Stanford University, concentrating on experimental embryology. She hopes to complete her second book next summer.

Dr. Gilbert's lecture will cover some of the modern developments in biology.

writings. If the Bible doesn't say anything to your existence, you must reject that part of it. It must be a very personal thing to be relevant.

The second point explored was that religion must be non-supernatural as pointed out by Paul Tillich. Trying to prove existence of a supernatural being is fruitless because it's only the idea of a God that is being proven—that real God is beyond God. "God is being itself." Man must personally try to find the depths of his existence. That which expresses the ultimate, deepest concern of man may not be religion at all. "Man may find grounds for his being somewhere else," the speaker noted.

Non-Religious

Christianity must become non-religious to meet the 20th century's challenge of change. Ideas from Bonhoeffer's "Letters and Papers from Prison" were cited to support this premise. Bonhoeffer says a religious God is a contrived God. It is one whose existence was formerly needed to explain the existence of the world. But in the 20th century that type of God is not needed. Participation in sacraments is not the answer. Rather, man should live his personal life as a sacrament.

It was pointed out by Mr. Stanley that religion will not be able to give stability to the challenge of change if it reverts to outworn standards. First it must meet its own challenge of change and reorganize its own way of thinking to fit the facts.
